Section Of Denver Cut Off By Flood; New Storms Strike

Major Flood Crest Rolls Down Ohio R.

By UNITED PRESS

Floodwaters drove families to the second stories of their homes in Catlettsburg, Ky., Friday and cut off an entire section of Denver.

Another major flood crest rolled down the Ohio River, flooding homes and closing schools. New storms crackled over Texas and Oklahoma, but skies cleared and flood threats eased in other parts of the Southland.

Kentucky's weeklong flood ordeal reached its climax as the swollen Big Sandy's crest swept down on Catlettsburg, where the river joins the Ohio.

A crest of 57.7 feet, nearly six feet above flood stage, was expected Friday night and the town's flood wall was only three quarters completed.

Return To Homes

About 250 families fled to temporary quarters in the city hall, first storing their furniture in freight cars. Other families were living on the top floors of their homes, while the first floors were under water. Auxiliary police from Ashland, Ky., moved in to help with flood relief and to keep unauthorized persons from the area.

Upstream, thousands of flood refugees returned to their homes at Paintsville, Prestonburg and Martin, Ky., as the Big Sandy's waters receded rapidly.

While the Kentuckians were wise in the techniques of flood-fighting, Denver was caught off guard by a two-inch downpour which assumed cloudburst proportions in the usually arid city.

Fear For Denver

Two days of rain isolated Denver's southeast section. Some streets became rivers from curb to curb and sandbagging started along South Side business streets. The Valley Highway, a main traffic artery, was closed to traffic.

Denver officials said damage so far was not serious. But they feared what would happen to poorly-drained Denver if the rains continue.

Starkweather Lashes Out At Photographer

Newsman Tumbles Against Banister; Killer Threatens

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Charles Starkweather, the confessed killer of 11, struck out at a photographer at his murder trial Friday and sent the man tumbling against a courthouse banister.

The 19-year-old redhead flared up as he came out of the courtroom at the midday break. A sheriff had a steel band around his right wrist but his left arm was free and the 5-foot, 5-inch Starkweather was angered at the sight of cameramen waiting for him again.

He struck out with his left hand and knocked the camera against the forehead of Ray Carnay, of radio station KIOA, Des Moines, Iowa, who was squatting to get a picture. Carnay lost his balance and fell against the railing but he was not hurt.

Later Carnay approached Starkweather and said: "No hard feelings, Charlie." Starkweather smiled faintly, shook Carnay's hand, and said, "No, but next time I'll kick you in the head."

The incident came as the prosecution began presentation of a case it thinks will send the former garbageman to the electric chair.

First witness was Robert E. Jensen, father of Robert William Jensen, for whose murder Starkweather is being tried.

Jensen wept on the witness stand and his voice was thick as he told of waiting on the night of Jan. 27 for his 17-year-old son to come home from a date with his steady sweetheart, Carol King, 16. He described his son as a "kind and considerate" boy, president of his school class. He wiped his eyes as he was shown Robert's wristwatch, his billfold and school jacket — all allegedly taken by Starkweather and Caril Ann Fugate, the killer's 14-year-old girl friend.

Ex-Ambassador To Moscow Dies; Famous Author

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph E. Davies, diplomat, lawyer and author of the best seller "Mission to Moscow," died at 81 Friday in his 20-room hilltop mansion, Tregaron.

Death was attributed to bronchial pneumonia after a cerebral hemorrhage.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday afternoon at Washington Cathedral.

Davies, who served under Presidents Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman, was ambassador to Moscow from 1936-38. His experiences in the Soviet capital led to publication in 1942 of "Mission to Moscow," a book credited with arousing U.S. sympathy for the Russians in their struggle with Nazi Germany.

Davies was married twice. His second wife was Mrs. Marjorie Merriweather Post, heiress to a breakfast cereal fortune. They were divorced in 1955 after 20 years' marriage.

His first wife was the former Miss Emlen Knight, daughter of a wealthy Wisconsin lumberman, whom he married in 1902. This marriage also ended in divorce.

Davies born Nov. 29, 1876, in Watertown, Wis., son of a wheelwright father and an evangelist mother. He worked his way through the University of Wisconsin as a gymnasium instructor.

His first experience in national politics was as campaign manager for Woodrow Wilson in 1912. After Wilson's election he became the first chairman of the Federal Trade Commission.

Another daughter, Mrs. M. J. Kennedy of New York City, also survives.

MATH, SCIENCE

Measure To Help Students Okayed

WASHINGTON (UP)—Two House Education subcommittees Friday approved a 260-million-dollar space age program to help needy science and mathematics students get though college.

But Rep. Carl Elliott, (D-Ala), chairman of one of the groups, said the four-year scholarship-loan plan would remain open to change until the entire education bill comes up for a vote in about 10 days.

No strings regarding subjects to be studied were attached to the program. But both Elliott's bill and an administration proposal recommended that preference be given science and mathematics students.

The four-year program would provide 25,000 scholarships a year, limited to $1,000 each, and 40 million dollars annually for $1,000 student loans. It was an outgrowth of widespread concern over this country's status in the scientific race with Russia.

Scholarships would be awarded by state agencies. Loans, with a $5,000 ceiling to allow for graduate work, would be administered by colleges and universities which would be required to put up 20 per cent in matching funds.

The scholarship provision was a compromise between the administration's request for 10,000 scholarships for four years and a Democratic bill calling for 40,000 annually for six years.

The administration bill contained no provision for loans.

The subcommittees headed by Elliott and Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey (D-W.Va.) will continue work next week on other features of Elliott's education bill.

It would include aid to colleges and high schools to bolster science teaching, grants to teachers for advanced study, federal fellowships and vocational aid to beef up training of technicians.

Work Delay On Channel Here Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A development which may delay dredging of a nine-foot navigation channel in the Ouachita River in Louisiana and Arkansas came to light Friday in a hearing before a Senate appropriations subcommittee.

The new development is a possibility Army engineers may decide they need new authorization legislation because of a change in project plans.

An Arkansas-Louisiana delegation, headed by H. K. Thatcher, Camden and H. W. McMillan, Arkadelphia, asked the committee to approve $300,000 for planning of the 9-foot channel despite lack of a budget recommendation. The group made a similar request at a House subcommittee hearing yesterday.

The delegation also included P. G. Anderson of the Lion Oil Company, El Dorado; Theo Preston, of Sterlington, La., and Robert Shortle, New Orleans.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La) of the Senate committee inquired as to the status of the authorization, stating he understood Army engineers have resurveyed the project and, at least on a lower level, have concluded they lack authority to proceed with the project on the basis of a new plan.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) had remarked earlier that "there is a question of whether additional authorization is needed." He added, however, "we need a nine foot navigation channel on the Ouachita—the tonnage is there and is developing rapidly."

As outlined by McMillan, the situation is this:

MISS ENGLAND CONTEST

One Too Young, Other Wore Waspie

LONDON (AP)—The Miss England beauty contest has been called off for the second time. Two lovely English roses have been found to be ineligible.

June Cooper, a curvy brunette with sparkling green eyes, was chosen for the 1958 Miss England crown two weeks ago. Then the organizers found that June was only 16, not 17 as she had said, and so too young even to enter the contest. Amid cries of "Foul," she abdicated.

Another contest was held last week and Wendy Peters, also curvy and also a brunette, won it. Right away the cries of "Foul" started again.

Wearing Waspie

Some of the other competitors charged 22-year-old Wendy was wearing a "waspie" under her white bathing suit when she won the title. A waspie is a device to flatten the tummy and pinch in the waist.

Wendy said she looked just as good without it, and offered to pose for the press in a bikini to prove it. Eric Morley, the harassed chief organizer of the contest, arranged the posing date. Wendy didn't show up.

Then came the news that the new Miss England isn't a miss, but a Mrs. She is the wife of a navy officer.

Morley said he found this out when he was briefing Wendy for her trip to the United States—one of the contest prizes—and saw her passport.

"She said she had been separated from her husband for 2½ years, and that in her mind this was as good as not being married," he told newsmen.

Morley, sadder and wiser, announced that the remaining finalists will compete again next Friday, with the following strict rules:

Each girl must bring along her passport, to prove her age and marital status.

There must be nothing at all between her bathing suit and her.

Report Justice Dep't 'Afraid' To Get Powell

Editor Critical Of N.Y. Negro Solon Is Federal Target

NEW YORK (AP)—The government Friday launched a probe of possible outside influences in the indictment of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY) on charges of income tax evasion. The indicting grand jury reportedly was prodded into action.

U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams named as targets of his inquiry William Buckley, editor of the Weekly National Review, and Thomas A. Bolan, a former assistant U.S. attorney in Williams' office.

Buckley Subpoenaed

Buckley was subpoenaed for federal grand jury questioning next Tuesday. Bolan was not immediately summoned.

Williams has been smarting under reports that the Powell grand jury was stirred into action when the Justice Department was reluctant to go after the Negro congressman from Harlem. Williams has denied the jury ran away on him.

The probe of Powell's affairs had lain dormant 14 months before it sudenly was reopened last April 17. Thursday, the jury indicted Powell on three counts of evading $3,063 in 1951-52 taxes on his own income and that of his wife, pianist Hazel Scott. That jury then was dismissed.

Got To Him

Had the grand jury held off until next September, the statute of limitations would have taken effect — which means that Powell could not be prosecuted since the time in which an alleged crime may be punished would have elapsed.

Last December, Buckley's National Review carried an article critical of the lengthy shelving of the Powell case. Copies were mailed to each of the 23 grand jurors on the Powell case.

Buckley freely admitted violating a federal law against contacting jurors on matters pending before them. He said: "We're not reluctant to take credit for stirring the grand jury up."

Mild Weather Forecast; River Still Climbing

The federal weatherman last night reached up through rain-drenched skies and brought fort a forecast of partly cloudy and mild today and tomorrow in the Twin Cities area.

He noted also a possibility of scatered thundershowers.

Meanwhile the muddy Ouachita river at Monroe continued to rise, reaching a level of 45 feet yesterday at 7 a.m., U. S. Engineer Corps reported. This represented a gain of .45 feet from a reading recorded 24 hours earlier.

Flood stage here — the point at which the river moves out if its natural banks — is 40 feet. Engineers have forecast a crest of 48 feet for May 20 on the basis of water volume upstream.

However, waters of the Ouachita have been backing over lowlands in the Twin Cities area for several days and more land is expected to be inundated during the next several days.

Engineers said yesterday that a rise of 10 feet more in the river level here would be necessary before flood danger would be posed to the city proper. In such an event, a seven-block gap in the seawall along South Grand would be sandbagged.

The highest point reached here during recent years, officials, said, was 50.4, which was in 1945.

The high and low temperature reading in the Twin Cities yesterday, as reported from Selman Field, were 83 and 62. No early readings on rainfall were released.

The outlook for the Arkansas area today and tomorrow is for a few thundershowers and a little warmer.

Army Working On Chemical Weapon

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Army is working on a new chemical weapon which it hopes will render enemy troops powerless by making them act irrationally, it was disclosed Friday.

Testimony made public by a House Appropriations subcommittee also revealed the Army sought to develop a chemical that would cause temporary blindness and disarm enemy soldiers without killing them.

WIFE GREETS RESCUED MINER — Arthur Fraley, tired and weary after being trapped with 23 others in Boone County Corp. coal mine for about 18 hours, is greeted by his wife, Jean, at Sharples, W. Va. (AP Wirephoto)

Grimy Faces Smile; W. Va. Miners Saved

SHARPLES, W.Va. (AP)—Twenty-four coal miners, their grime-smeared faces split with wide grins, emerged in single file early Friday from the flooded wreckage of a 30-year-old mine.

They had escaped with their lives from one of the oddest accidents in West Virginia's long — and sometimes tragic—coal mining history.

The tunneled-out earth of the Boone County Coal Corp. No. 2-A mine collapsed under the weight of a two-acre pond atop the slope mine about half a mile from the entrance.

Tunnel Blocked

Tons of waste water gushed harmlessly out the mine entrance, but other tons backed up into low-lying areas, blocking off the tunnel.

Twenty-two of the 24 miners at work at the time were digging coal more than a mile from the entrance.

Two others were on a mine motorcar. They saw the water coming, retreated and joined their colleagues.

The time was 1 p.m. Thursday. They were mostly hardened old timers, and each felt in his heart it would be a long wait.

There was no food and very little water.

Heavy Rains

It wasn't difficult for them to understand what happened. The pond had become burdened with heavy surface rains.

Where the men waited, talked and prayed, the elevation was 74 feet above the entrance and 51 feet higher than the point where the water had caved in the roof of their mine.

Outside, somebody remembered an old air shaft that served a section that had been abandoned since the 1920s.

Bill Goodwin Is Dead-Announcer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Announcer Bill Goodwin, one of radio's best known voices, died in his car early Friday, apparently of a heart attack.

A policeman found his auto stopped at the roadside just outside town at 4:30 a.m. The lights were on, the engine running.

Goodwin, familiar to millions as announcer at various times for Bob Hope, Burns and Allen, Edgar Bergen, Frank Sinatra and other stars, was slumped in the front seat, dead.

His wife, former movie actress Philippa Hilber, said they retired about 12:30 a.m. She awoke during the night and found a note from Goodwin which read: "Gone to take a ride out in the desert for awhile."

RAINS THREATEN

Red River Crest Rolls Southward

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The Red River crest rolled downstream Friday as new thunderstorms moved onto northwestern Louisiana.

Water stages fell rapidly above Shreveport and to a point south of here. A 42-foot crest was expected to reach Grand Ecore tomorrow.

Before Friday's rains, the weather bureau said no rainfall of importance had fallen on the watershed although thunderstorms had been predicted for some 24 hours.

A weather bureau bulletin issued Friday morning said the crest would reach the central Louisiana city of Alexandria by Monday. It was expected to reach 41 feet.

Expect Crest

Grand Ecore has a 33-foot flood stage, while the stage at Alexandria is 32 feet. Both areas are expected to have a crest lasting about 48 hours.

Thunderstorms were forecast for a broad area including Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas, all effecting the Red watershed, through Friday night.

A small levee break was reported at Creighton. George Wise, Red River Parish civil defense director, said the break yesterday flooded thousands of acres of low farmlands.

Bulldozers remained in the fight to repair the levee, but the Air Force evacuated Barksdale Air Force Base men, fearing possible loss of life. Wise said the water was backing rapidly into the area.

Wise appealed a third time for Gov. Earl Long to declare the Red River Parish sector a disaster area, and thus open the way for federal aid.

Long Unavailable

In Baton Rouge, Gov. Earl Long was reported unavailable for comment.

The levees in the critical area south of East Point were holding on the north bank, Wise said, and no break there was expected. If such a break occurred, he said, it would throw a 7-foot wall of water over the lowlands.

Wise asked that Long "please stop arguing. . .whether we have a disaster in this area or not."

It is a disaster for the people involved, he said, "and we don't feel like fighting the governor any more."

New road closures left the Natchitoches, north of Alexandria, nearly isolated. Only state Highway Six west of Many and Leesville remained opened.

Rail service was discontinued temporarily, also because of rising waters.

LEGISLATIVE OUTLOOK

May Propose Law On Minimum Speed

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 10th in a series of articles by staff writer Sam Hanna dealing with bills which district lawmakers plan to introduce or support at the session of the Louisiana Legislature opening next week.)

Sen. Brenham C. Crothers of Concordia parish may sent his fellow legislators shuffling for their thinking caps when the legislature opens Monday.

For Crothers, who lets it be known that he's not one to go after a legislative proposal unless he thinks it's a winner, has come up with what may be the state's first minimum speed law.

Although he declines to go into detail at the present time, Crothers is on the brink of introducing a bill that would make the slow "Sunday driver" a lawbreaker on the highways.

In addition to his minimum speed proposal, he has come up with two other bills that will be well received in some circles, yet hotly contested in others.

For instance, he proposes, in conjunction with other members of the senate, a constitutional amendment which would exempt all farm equipment from ad valoreum taxes.

Resolution

No only that, but Crothers plans to offer a resolution requesting the Civil Service Commission to hire more middle age and older persons and deemphasize the hiring of employees between the ages of 20 and 30.

On the minimum speed bill, Crothers has discussed it with the legislative council and has obtained information from several other states.

But he doesn't plan to map out the details until he discusses it with his Baton Rouge colleagues, Highway Director R. B. Richardson and State Police officials.

"There is a possibility that there

Ex-Ambassador To Moscow Dies; Famous Author

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph E. Davies, diplomat, lawyer and author of the best seller "Mission to Moscow," died at 81 Friday in his 20-room hilltop mansion, Tregaron.

Death was attributed to bronchial pneumonia after a cerebral hemorrhage.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday afternoon at Washington Cathedral.

Davies, who served under Presidents Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman, was ambassador to Moscow from 1936-38. His experiences in the Soviet capital led to publication in 1942 of "Mission to Moscow," a book credited with arousing U.S. sympathy for the Russians in their struggle with Nazi Germany.

Davies was married twice. His second wife was Mrs. Marjorie Merriweather Post, heiress to a breakfast cereal fortune. They were divorced in 1955 after 20 years' marriage.

His first wife was the former Miss Emlen Knight, daughter of a wealthy Wisconsin lumberman, whom he married in 1902. This marriage also ended in divorce.

Davies born Nov. 29, 1876, in Watertown, Wis., son of a wheelwright father and an evangelist mother. He worked his way through the University of Wisconsin as a gymnasium instructor.

His first experience in national politics was as campaign manager for Woodrow Wilson in 1912. After Wilson's election he became the first chairman of the Federal Trade Commission.

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Fennimore Chatterton, first governor of Wyoming, died early Friday night at the home of a daughter here. He was 97.

Chatterton lived at Arvada, Colo., but customarily spent his winters here with the daughter, Mrs. W. H. Spears.

Another daughter, Mrs. M. J. Kennedy of New York City, also survives.

MISS ENGLAND CONTEST

One Too Young, Other Wore Waspie

LONDON (AP)—The Miss England beauty contest has been called off for the second time. Two lovely English roses have been found to have a thorn or two.

June Cooper, a curvy brunette with sparkling green eyes, was chosen for the 1958 Miss England crown two weeks ago. Then the organizers found that June was only 16, not 17 as she had said, and so too young even to enter the contest. Amid cries of "Foul," she abdicated.

Another contest was held last week and Wendy Peters, also curvy and also a brunette, won it. Right away the cries of "Foul" started again.

Wearing Waspie

Some of the other competitors charged 22-year-old Wendy was wearing a "waspie" under her white bathing suit when she won the title. A waspie is a device to flatten the tummy and pinch in the waist.

Wendy said she looked just as good without it, and offered to pose for the press in a bikini to prove it. Eric Morley, the harassed chief organizer of the contest, arranged the posing date. Wendy didn't show up.

Then came the news that the new Miss England isn't a miss, but a Mrs. She is the wife of a navy officer.

Morley said he found this out when he was briefing Wendy for the contest prizes—a trip to the United States—one of the contest prizes—and saw her passport.

"She said she had been separated from her husband for 2½ years and thought this made her as good as not being married yet," he told newsmen.

Morley, sadder and wiser, announced that the remaining finalists will compete again next Friday, with the following strict rules:

Each girl must bring along her passport, to prove her age and marital status.

Mild Weather Forecast; River Still Climbing

The federal weatherman last night reached up through rain-drenched skies and brought fort a forecast of partly cloudy and mild today and tomorrow in the Twin Cities area.

He noted also a possibility of scatered thundershowers.

Meanwhile the muddy Ouachita river at Monroe continued to rise, reaching a level of 45 feet yesterday at 7 a.m., U. S. Engineer Corps reported. This represented a gain of .45 feet from a reading recorded 24 hours earlier.

Flood stage here — the point at which the river moves out of its natural banks — is 40 feet. Engineers have forecast a crest of 48 feet for May 20 on the basis of water volume upstream.

However, waters of the Ouachita have been backing over lowlands in the Twin Cities area for several days and more land is expected to be inundated during the next several days.

Engineers said yesterday that a rise of 10 feet more in the river level here would be necessary before flood danger would be posed to the city proper. In such an event, a seven-block gap in the seawall along South Grand would be sandbagged.

The highest point reached here during recent years, officials, said, was 50.4, which was in 1945.

The high and low temperature reading in the Twin Cities yesterday, as reported from Selman Field, were 83 and 62. No rainfall readings on rainfall were released.

The outlook for the Arkansas area today and tomorrow is for a few thundershowers and a little warmer.

Army Working On Chemical Weapon

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Army is working on a new chemical weapon which it hopes will render enemy troops powerless by making them act irrationally, it was disclosed Friday.

Testimony made public by a House Appropriations subcommittee also revealed the Army sought to develop a chemical that would cause temporary blindness and disarm enemy soldiers without killing them.

Grimy Faces Smile; W. Va. Miners Saved

SHARPLES, W.Va. (AP)—Twenty-four coal miners, their grime-smeared faces split with wide grins, emerged in single file early Friday from the flooded wreckage of a 30-year-old mine.

They had escaped with their lives from one of the oddest accidents in West Virginia's long — and sometimes tragic—coal mining history.

The tunneled-out earth of the Boone County Coal Corp. No. 2-A mine collapsed under the weight of a two-acre pond atop the slope mine about half a mile from the entrance.

Tunnel Blocked

Tons of waste water gushed harmlessly out the mine entrance, but other tons backed up into low-lying areas, blocking off the tunnel.

Twenty-two of the 24 miners at work at the time were digging coal more than a mile from the entrance.

Two others were on a mine motorcar. They saw the water coming, retreated and joined their colleagues.

The time was 1 p.m. Thursday. They were mostly hardened old timers, and each felt in his heart it would be a long wait.

There was no food and very little water.

Heavy Rains

It wasn't difficult for them to understand what happened. The pond had become burdened with heavy surface rains.

Where the men waited, talked and prayed, the elevation was 74 feet above the entrance and 51 feet higher than the point where the water had caved in the roof of their mine.

Outside, somebody remembered an old air shaft that served a section that had been abandoned since the 1920s.

Bill Goodwin Is Dead-Announcer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Announcer Bill Goodwin, one of radio's best known voices, died in his car early Friday, apparently of a heart attack.

A policeman found his auto stopped at the roadside just outside town at 4:30 a.m. The lights were on, the engine running.

Goodwin, familiar to millions as announcer at various times for Bob Hope, Burns and Allen, Edgar Bergen, Frank Sinatra and other stars, was slumped in the front seat, dead.

His wife, former movie actress Philippa Hilber, said they retired about 12:30 a.m. She awoke during the night and found a note from Goodwin which read: "Gone to take a ride out in the desert for awhile."

RAINS THREATEN

Red River Crest Rolls Southward

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The Red River crest rolled downstream Friday as new thunderstorms moved onto northwestern Louisiana.

Water stages fell rapidly above Shreveport and to a point south of here. A 42-foot crest was expected to reach Grand Ecore tomorrow.

Before Friday's rains, the weather bureau said no rainfall of importance had fallen on the watershed although thunderstorms had been predicted for some 24 hours.

A weather bureau bulletin issued Friday morning said the crest would reach the central Louisiana city of Alexandria by Monday. It was expected to reach 41 feet.

Expect Crest

Grand Ecore has a 33-foot flood stage, while the stage at Alexandria is 32 feet. Both areas are expected to have a crest lasting about 48 hours.

Thunderstorms were forecast for a broad area including Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas, all effecting the Red watershed, through Friday night.

A small levee break was reported at Creighton. George Wise, Red River Parish civil defense director, said the break yesterday flooded thousands of acres of low farmlands.

Bulldozers remained in the fight to repair the levee, but the Air Force evacuated Barksdale Air Force Base men, fearing possible loss of life. Wise said the water was backing rapidly into the area.

Wise appealed a third time for Gov. Earl Long to declare the Red River Parish sector a disaster area, and thus open the way for federal aid.

Long Unavailable

In Baton Rouge, Gov. Earl Long was reported unavailable for comment.

The levees in the critical area south of East Point were holding on the north bank, Wise said, and no break there was expected. If such a break occurred, he said, it would throw a 5-foot wall of water over the lowlands.

Wise agreed that Long "please stop arguing, whether we have a disaster in this area or not."

It is a disaster for the people involved, he said, "and we don't feel like fighting the governor any more."

New road closures left the Natchitoches, north of Alexandria, high and dry. Only state Highway Six west of Many and Leesville remained opened.

Rail service was discontinued temporarily, also because of rising waters.

LEGISLATIVE OUTLOOK

May Propose Law On Minimum Speed

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 10th in a series of articles by staff writer Sam Hanna dealing with bills which district lawmakers plan to introduce or support at the session of the Louisiana Legislature opening next week.)

Sen. Brenham C. Crothers of Concordia parish may send his fellow legislators scratching their thinking caps when the legislature opens Monday.

For Crothers, who lets it be known that he's not one to go after a legislative proposal unless he thinks it's a winner, has come up with what may be the state's first minimum speed law.

Although he declines to go into detail at the present time, Crothers is giving consideration to drafting a bill that would make the slow "Sunday driver" a lawbreaker on the highways.

In addition to his minimum speed proposal, he has come up with two other bills that would be well received in some circles, yet hotly contested in others.

For instance, he proposes, in conjunction with other members of the senate, a constitutional amendment which would exempt all farm equipment from ad valorem taxes.

Resolution

No only that, but Crothers plans to offer a resolution requesting the Civil Service Commission to hire more middle age and older persons and deemphasize the hiring of employees between the ages of 20 and 30.

On the minimum speed bill, Crothers has discussed it with the legislative council and he has obtained information from several other states.

But he doesn't plan to map out the details until he discusses it with his Baton Rouge colleagues, Highway Director R. B. Richardson and State Police officials.

"There is a possibility that there

Top Official Of Lions Is Speaker Here

The president of Lions International, Edward G. Barry, spoke here last night before 350 Lions representing clubs from all over Louisiana.

Mayor J. Allen Norris of West Monroe and Lion President Steed, in the absence of Mayor W. L. Howard, presented Barry with the keys to the Twin Cities.

Recalling the beginning of Lionism, Barry explained the international organization was started in Dallas in 1917 to defend democracy, help their fellow man, and tell the world of the virtues of free enterprise.

"Person to person service in the community is what made the Lions a great international force for good," Barry said. He added that the club is a service organization and urged the members to expand their projects and help others whenever possible.

Barry, just returned from a world tour, told the assembly that he had covered 270,000 miles by air and visited 73 countries. "Lions Clubs overseas are adopting projects jointly between countries without regard to political affiliations or geographic boundaries. They are helping to cement world friendship by serving their fellow man."

Feeding Children

"For instance," Barry said, "the Lions Clubs of India are feeding 30,000 children who otherwise would have nothing at all to eat. They know the meaning and the value of an active service organization."

Barry stated that the 600,000 Lions in the world received four rewards for their work: fellowship, confidence, influence in their community and brotherhood. These, he added, should be ample rewards for anyone.

Elected president at the International convention in San Francisco last June, Barry, is past director, and past president of the Hot Springs, Arkansas Lions Club, has served as zone chairman of District 7-B, was twice deputy district governor, and district governor. He was elected International Director in 1950 and International Second Vice-President in 1954.

The meeting last night marked the first appearance of a Lions International president in the Twin Cities.

Odd Fellows

Odd Fellows of the states of Mississippi and Louisiana meet this week end in Jackson, Miss. where second degree delegates are presented Ouachita lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F. send a delegation of 25 to 30 which included Rebekah members.

Odd Fellows in all three states are beginning to start up with enthusiasm. The Monroe group is specially pleased.

It is reported that plans are being furthered for the erection of an Odd Fellows Temple here on their newly acquired site on Kansas avenue. A considerable sum has been raised and it is hoped to get the building started in the not too distant future.

The site acquired has a frontage of 100 feet and depth of 150 feet. The new million dollar Ouachita parish high school is not far away.

Bell

Years ago a certain minister was called to deliver the dedicatory sermon when a new church had one big lack, there was no bell in the belfry. Now he said, "I will donate a bell at once upon the arrival of one I shall order tomorrow." And this was carried out in detail.

But now in these more modern times, he had a call to preach a dedication of another new church. Carelessly he did not study the speech he had written years before and he had for the time overlooked the item of the donation of a bell.

The sermon started and before he realized he had let out the promise to give a bell to this church! He is now amazed and horrified and he's almost obligated to donate a bell which will cost four times what it did in the past years.

Banquet

Miss Grace Carter, one of the sponsors of the Ouachita parish alumni association banquet, states that any who attended Ouachita parish schools for two years may qualify for attendance at the dinner to be held in Hotel Virginia May 20 at 7 p.m.

Seek Assist For Farmers In District

An effort was underway in Washington yesterday to gain the agriculture department's permission to allow flood - striken Louisiana cotton farmers to switch their water - covered acreage allotments to dry land areas.

Harvey Grant Jr., secretary - manager of lthe Louisiana Delta Council, said he had requested Sen. Allen J. Ellender and Rep. Otto Passman to work toward obtaining the action after several north Louisiana farmers requested such a provision.

Grant said that in effect such allowances would be an extension of an April 15 deadline before which time farmers could release their cotton allotments to their parish agriculture committee for re - allocation by May 1.

Both Passman and Ellender have pledged their full support toward the effort, Grant said the legislators advised him by telephone yesterday.

However, Grant said Passman and Ellender indicated yesterday they expected opposition in Washington to their efforts.

Washington sources have said that the sought action may require legislation, Grant said. He pointed out that legislative acts would requires about a month, too late for seeding cotton.

Mississippi and Arkansas LDC officials have also pledged their support in seeking allowances in the problem, Grant said.

Ellender is seeking an alleviation in the situation through administrative procedures in an effort to circumvent a time - consuming act of congress. Grant said.

In surveying the problem Grant said that the soggy conditions in northeast Louisiana are lessening with waters falling, but that along the Red River farmers are faced with rising waters.

The weather forecast for this week - end calls for more rain and Grant said that farmers had pointed out that they feared the predicted rainfall more than the present situation.

If additional rains do not come, Grant said, most northeast Louisiana cotton farmers could start planting operations within the next two weeks.

Bird Is Bundled In Laundry Here

A sparrow that can't tell a clothesline from a tree probably will be more careful about his sleeping place from now on.

The bird went to sleep in clothes hung out to dry - and a Southside resident carted both bird and dry clothes into her home, last night.

Rushing to get the clothes in when it began to sprinkle shortly after 7 p.m., the Southsider didn't notice the freeloading flyer -and bundled him in with the rest of the laundry.

Once in the house, friend bird woke up and soared out of the clean clothes. After a wild chase with a tennis racket, the human finally persuaded the untouched, frightened sparrow to zoom out the back door.

9-foot navigation channel for the Ouachita, which now has a 6½-foot channel. The authorization specified that Army engineers advised the Ouachita Valley Assn. and McClellan they needed no further authority.

But more recently the engineers restudied the project and decided that instead of dredging the channel deeper it would be cheaper to raise the locks and dame.

In view of this, McMillan said, the engineers in the field apparently felt that they had to get a new authorization. The matter is being reviewed by the chief of Army Engineers, he said.

Normally Congress doesn't appropriate money for a project until the work has been authorized.

Warning Issued On Blasting Caps

Several accidents in other parts of the country involving blasting caps prompted Sheriff Baily Grant yesterday to issue a warning to all persons of the danger involved in the improper handling of caps of any type.

Sheriff Grant was particularly fearful that caps left carelessly about might be discovered by children who, thinking them some sort of shiny toy, might easily explode them.

"For instance," Barry said, "the Lions Clubs of India are feeding 30,000 children who otherwise would have nothing at all to eat. They know the meaning and the value of an active service organization."

Barry stated that the 600,000 Lions in the world received four rewards for their work: fellowship, confidence, influence in their community and brotherhood. These, he added, should be ample rewards for anyone.

Elected president at the International convention in San Francisco last June, Barry, is past director, and past president of the Hot Springs, Arkansas Lions Club, has served as zone chairman of District 7-B, was twice deputy district governor, and district governor. He was elected International Director in 1950 and International Second Vice-President in 1954.

The meeting last night marked the first appearance of a Lions International president in the Twin Cities.

Odd Fellows

Odd Fellows of the states of Mississippi and Louisiana meet this week end in Jackson, Miss. where second degree delegates are presented Ouachita lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F. send a delegation of 25 to 30 which included Rebekah members.

Odd Fellows in all three states are beginning to start up with enthusiasm. The Monroe group is specially pleased.

It is reported that plans are being furthered for the erection of an Odd Fellows Temple here on their newly acquired site on Kansas avenue. A considerable sum has been raised and it is hoped to get the building started in the not too distant future.

The site acquired has a frontage of 100 feet and depth of 150 feet. The new million dollar Ouachita parish high school is not far away.

Bell

Years ago a certain minister was called to deliver the dedicatory sermon when a new church had one big lack, there was no bell in the belfry. Now he said, "I will donate a bell at once upon the arrival of one I shall order tomorrow." And this was carried out in detail.

But now in these more modern times, he had a call to preach a dedication of another new church. Carelessly he did not study the speech he had written years before and he had for the time overlooked the item of the donation of a bell.

The sermon started and before he realized he had let out the promise to give a bell to this church! He is now amazed and horrified and he's almost obligated to donate a bell which will cost four times what it did in the past years.

Banquet

Miss Grace Carter, one of the sponsors of the Ouachita parish alumni association banquet, states that any who attended Ouachita parish schools for two years may qualify for attendance at the dinner to be held in Hotel Virginia May 20 at 7 p.m.

Seek Assist For Farmers In District

An effort was underway in Washington yesterday to gain the agriculture department's permission to allow flood - striken Louisiana cotton farmers to switch their water - covered acreage allotments to dry land areas.

Harvey Grant Jr., secretary - manager of lthe Louisiana Delta Council, said he had requested Sen. Allen J. Ellender and Rep. Otto Passman to work toward obtaining the action after several north Louisiana farmers requested such a provision.

Grant said that in effect such allowances would be an extension of an April 15 deadline before which time farmers could release their cotton allotments to their parish agriculture committee for re - allocation by May 1.

Both Passman and Ellender have pledged their full support toward the effort, Grant said the legislators advised him by telephone yesterday.

However, Grant said Passman and Ellender indicated yesterday they expected opposition in Washington to their efforts.

Washington sources have said that the sought action may require legislation, Grant said. He pointed out that legislative acts would requires about a month, too late for seeding cotton.

Mississippi and Arkansas LDC officials have also pledged their support in seeking allowances in the problem, Grant said.

Ellender is seeking an alleviation in the situation through administrative procedures in an effort to circumvent a time - consuming act of congress. Grant said.

In surveying the problem Grant said that the soggy conditions in northeast Louisiana are lessening with waters falling, but that along the Red River farmers are faced with rising waters.

The weather forecast for this week - end calls for more rain and Grant said that farmers had pointed out that they feared the predicted rainfall more than the present situation.

If additional rains do not come, Grant said, most northeast Louisiana cotton farmers could start planting operations within the next two weeks.

Bird Is Bundled In Laundry Here

A sparrow that can't tell a clothesline from a tree probably will be more careful about his sleeping place from now on.

The bird went to sleep in clothes hung out to dry - and a Southside resident carted both bird and dry clothes into her home last night.

Rushing to get the clothes in when it began to sprinkle shortly after 7 p.m., the Southsider didn't notice the freeloading flyer -and bundled him in with the rest of the laundry.

Once in the house, friend bird woke up and soared out of the clean clothes. After a wild chase with a tennis racket, the human finally persuaded the untouched, frightened sparrow to zoom out the back door.

Work Delay On Channel Here Seen

9-foot navigation channel for the Ouachita, which now has a 6½-foot channel. The authorization specified that Army engineers advised the Ouachita Valley Assn. and McClellan they needed no further authority.

But more recently the engineers restudied the project and decided that instead of dredging the channel deeper it would be cheaper to raise the locks and dame.

In view of this, McMillan said, the engineers in the field apparently felt that they had to get a new authorization. The matter is being reviewed by the chief of Army Engineers, he said.

Normally Congress doesn't appropriate money for a project until the work has been authorized.

Warning Issued On Blasting Caps

Several accidents in other parts of the country involving blasting caps prompted Sheriff Baily Grant yesterday to issue a warning to all persons of the danger involved in the improper handling of caps of any type.

Sheriff Grant was particularly fearful that caps left carelessly about might be discovered by children who, thinking them some sort of shiny toy, might easily explode them.

Stormy Marriage

By Vida Hurst

Chapter 4

THE STORY THIS FAR: A bride of only three days, STORMY GRAHAM already has doubts about her hasty marriage. As she and her groom, RANDY GRAHAM, fly to San Francisco, she feels he is concealing something and is not anxious to arrive. On the way to Randy's home in San Francisco, Stormy is reassured as Randy firmly reiterates his love for her. Randy leaves Stormy with his 18-year-old daguther, ELSA, as he leaves for his office. Later, when Elsa calls he isn't there.

"That's funny," Elsa said, her delicate eyebrows contracting above intensely blue eyes.

Her newly acquired stepmother smiled. "Randy's probably stopped some place on his way to the office. After being away for almost three weeks there are a lot of things to do."

"I wanted to talk to him about the cocktail party he is planning for Sunday. He's sworn me to silence so that he can announce it to all his friends at once. Which seems silly to me."

"He should do it whatever way he chooses," Stormy said loyally.

The blue eyes stared at her. "You mean that, don't you?" Elsa's voice was puzzled. Her stepmother might be only a year older but emotionally she possessed a maturity which Elsa was forced to recognize.

"Of course I mean it. I didn't marry him to change him. I love him just as he is."

With the natural grace which was her greatest charm, Elsa said "Why don't you rest now and unpack later? I've closed the blinds so you can go to sleep. You must be tired."

"I am. More than I realized," Stormy admitted gratefully. Elsa turned down the satin spread while Stormy stepped out of her suit and into the negligee she had brought in her overnight bag. It was pale blue and short with the round little collar of a school uniform. "I haven't had time to buy a new one," Stormy explained. "Since we were married, I mean."

"How long did you know my father?" Elsa asked carelessly. "Don't answer if you'd rather not. It's none of my business."

"Of course, its your business," Stormy said. "We met the second night after his arrival. I was staying with a friend whose husband is the island distributor for your fathers company. They invited him to dinner and he took us to the hotel for dinner the next next night, then we saw each other every evening after that and some times during the day."

She buttoned the simple little garment about her and sank upon the bed as she added, "It seemed so natural. Like part of a pattern. When he asked me to marry him I was already waiting at the church. Figuratively speaking, of course. But it was his idea that we marry over there instead of waiting until we came back to the mainland."

"Thanks for telling me," Elsa said. "I know how difficult it is to cross him, once he's made a decision. And I have wondered why he didn't want me to tell any-one — even in the office."

"He wanted to tell it himself," Stormy explained, yawning. "Must be the change of climate," she sighed.

"I'm sorry," Elsa apologized. "Go to sleep now. If you hear me talking on the phone you'll know I'm inviting people to the cocktail party Sunday. Dad gave me the list."

Stormy didn't even hear the last words. She was already alseep. She did not suspect that Elsa, convinced that something must have happened to her father, called his office again to hear his secretary repeat that he had not arrived.

"I told you I'd ask him to telephone you as soon as he comes, but we've heard nothing from him. I'm just as anxious as you are," she admitted.

Elsa suspected that his secretary, Myra Dean, was in love with her boss. Randolph Graham, widower for 18 years, but still in his thirties was pursued by unattached females of all ages. Socially he was a valued guest.

Miss Dean had taken the liberty of calling his town apartment, which had a blind number, but nobody answered. She didn't suspect that it was becuase he was calling on a woman who had expected to live with him in the beautiful house on Belvedere.

Classes For Gifted

A sensible attitude apparently has been taken by Ouachita parish and Monroe school officials in adjusting to the demand for special educational opportunities for gifted students. Neither of the school systems here has been stampeded into going all out for the so-called brilliant students, at the expense of the others, but both have made preparations for giving more scientific courses.

W. W. Ward, superintendent of parish schools, stated that children in grades six through eight who, according to tests, are gifted with unusual capacities, will attend special classes, either at Ouachita Parish Junior High School or West Monroe Junior High School.

Van D. Odom, superintendent of city schools, said that special courses, particularly in chemistry, will be provided in high school for those wishing to take courses in science.

Supt. Ward emphasized that the gifted children will not be cut off from normal association with their classmates in such subjects as physical education, music and other general studies but will have especially trained teachers in the more scientific subjects. He also stated that no child will be compelled by the schools to take the courses designed for the gifted. Willingness both of the child and of the parents will be taken into consideration.

No mention has been made of the method to be used in selecting the more gifted children, other than the tests. Ordinarily it might be supposed that the quality of being "gifted" could be based on grades, since it is naturally assumed that the children with the higher grades are smarter.

Such a gage, however, could be far from accurate, for several reasons. It is well known that students of only ordinary intelligence are capable of making grades far above average if they give more attention to study and less to other activities than do other students. By applying himself energetically to any undertaking any ordinary person can go far above the average. This holds true in sports and all other kinds of activities, as well as studies in school.

The student more than ordinarily interested in making good grades, either on his own account or because he has been spurred on by his parents because of their interest in education, almost always will make grades higher than average, even though his intelligence may be only average.

On the contrary, a truly gifted pupil may be overlooked because his own knowledge already surpasses what he learns in school in a particular subject, thus causing him to lose interest, or because he makes high grades in only one subject.

Albert Einstein, known as the discoverer of the universe's system of relativity, with its far-reaching results in atomic power and outer-space exploration, was regarded as a dullard in school.

No real good will be accomplished by pushing children with high grades into the study of deep scientific subjects. Every first-class musician knows that a master musician cannot be created by a life-time of study unless he first has extraordinary talent. The same is true in art or anything else. Extraordinary brilliance cannot be created by study. It can only be developed.

The child who shows unusual ability on one particular subject, rather than higher-than-average general grades, is the one more likely to be really gifted.

It has been estimated that only two per cent of the children possess what might be termed superior brilliance. A peculiar thing about this two per cent is that they may be inclined more toward non-conformity and therefore may not be looked upon too favorably by their teachers. A real conformist will never rise above his fellows because he will always do what others do. On the contrary, no one who makes a display of his idiosyncracies will be made more brilliant by doing so.

The success of the special courses will depend more on the ability of the instructors to recognize potential greatness than on the selection of those with high grades.

Withholding The News

The question of whether or not a newspaper has the right to protect its sources of information has been brought into sharp focus in Shreveport. There, L. F. Clawson, secretary-treasurer of the Caddo parish police jury and a public official for 39 years, threatened the Shreveport Times with a complete news blackout as long as that paper refuses to reveal its source of information for a news story affecting the police jury.

For a number of reasons, Mr. Clawson's statement is unreasonable and will receive no general support. It is also futile, since there is no likelihood that his demand will be met.

Many courts have upheld the right of newspapers to protect their sources of information. These courts have held that the public has a right to know what is going on and that it would be less likely to know if newspapers were compelled to reveal the sources of information given to them in confidence. Few persons would give information in confidence if they knew their identities were to be revealed. In fact, if such a situation prevailed, there would be no such thing as "in confidence."

Newspapers have made the question of protecting their sources of information a matter of honor and it has been demonstrated that editors and reporters would be willing to go to jail before breaking this code.

In the Shreveport case, the newspaper ran a story in which it said the police jury picked up the tab for 14 steak dinners served at a closed meeting of public health officials Monday night.

Without attempting to judge whether or not the police jury was justified in this expenditure, we must arrive at one of two conclusions. Either the police jury had such a right and therefore should have no objection to the publication of the fact or it did not have such a right and the public was entitled to know of its defalcation.

If the first of these premises was true, there was no reason to demand the source of information. If the second was true, the source has a right to protection.

The source could easily have been a member of the police jury. On every police jury there are members who believe in the public's right to know and who do not believe in doing anything not condoned by law. A juror or anyone else would have the right to reveal the facts.

Although aroused by the story, the police jury secretary-treasurer apparently did not dispute its authenticity.

Mr. Clawson is taking an arrogant and indefensible position in threatening a news blackout. He apparently takes the position that he can dictate the policies of the police jury. Undoubtedly that would be disputed by every member of that body.

Furthermore, all official meetings of the police jury, as well as all other public bodies in Louisiana, are required by law to be open to the public.

What Mr. Clawson actually means is that he personally will not give out any more news unless his ego is gratified. In doing this, if he persists in his threat, the public official will not primarily be injuring the newspaper. His greatest offense will be that, so far as lies within his own personal power, he will be depriving the public of its right to know.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Dishonor Preferable To Death, Russell Asserts

Bertrand Russell the British philosopher, who has earned an enormous world reputation as a mathematician, politician, lover and geriatrist, wrote to Alfred Kohlberg, who has denominated himself as the "China Lobby," as follows:

"As for your accusation that the policy I have advocated has changed from time to time: it has changed as circumstances have changed. To achieve a single purpose, sane men adapt their policies to the circumstances. Those who do not are insane."

This is the last paragraph of a letter in which Russell advocated "unilateral nuclear disarmament" for Great Britain if negotiations for universal nuclear disarmament should fail. This idea may be all right for the British, but it is meaningless in the situation in which the United States finds itself. Russell, who does not believe in absolutes, comes up with this one:

"... I favour negotiations between them for abolition of nuclear weapons by both sides. I do hold, however, that, if all negotiations prove futile and no alternatives remain except Communist domination or extinction of the human race, the former alternative is the lesser of two evils ..."

In a word, the ancient philosopher prefers slavery to death, which is, of course, his option. Patrick Henry preferred to risk death to win liberty which was the old-fashioned American idea. Perhaps the difference lies in age. Lord Russell is 86 years old. However, Herbert Hoover, who is nearly 84, would turn such cowardice down.

Many young Americans are influenced by the views of Lord Russell who for many years earned a part or much of his living traveling about the United States, lecturing and amusing American audiences by a general condemnation of American folkways which apparently appeared to be somewhat primitive to his exalted mind.

As to sane men adapting their policies to circumstances, this is a subject that requires considerable thought. Certainly the mobsters who attended the Apalachin conference were adapting themselves to circumstances. It has become necessary to replace the older statesmanship of Frank Costello by a more dynamic leadership in the world of private enterprise, namely, the operation of certain competitive, marginal industries which legislation has made illegal. So these very practical men selected a secluded and unusual place where about 60 of them met in a most sane manner to adjust themselves to circumstances. Their predecessor, Al Capone, must surely have been sane, for he adjusted brilliantly to the circumstance of Prohibition and established a state within a state, over which he ruled with sawed-off shotgun.

Those who did not adapt their policies to the circumstance of Prohibition, drank homemade bathtub gin and were blinded or they did not drink at all and thirsted because of their absolute principle that the law is the law no matter what one thinks of it.

The world without absolutes in which Bertrand Russell lives is no very great improvement upon the world of Queen Victoria when absolutes reigned even to the point of making it less ill-mannered to have a mistress secretly than to throw the mother of one's children into the gutter to satisfy a fancy.

There were probably as many sinners then as now, but we knew less about them because nobody extolled sin or made heroes of the wicked and heroines of adultresses. Perhaps philosopher Russell would say that it is all in the point of view and that Lana Turner is a jollier person than Florence Nightingale and that in the circumstances of the present age Rita Hayworth should be set up as a model for all schoolgirls and his excellency, the Pakistani ambassador to the United Nations, Aly Khan, as a model for all schoolboys.

Bertrand Russell, by his adjustabilities, spreads confusion in a troubled age. It is the same order of confusion that makes Alger Hiss palatable to Princeton University but not father Hugh Halton. It is the same order of logic which encourages public officials to violate the law if sufficient pressure is put on them, say, by labor leaders. It is the same order of confusion which encourages broken homes to preserve the "happiness" of a mother who has abandoned concern over the welfare and sanity and potential decency of her child. It is the same relativism which encourages social workers to coddle criminals, 20 years of age, but not 21, because they are still juvenile.

If that is sanity, most sane people will pray that the Lord preserve them from it.

Men In America Making Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — Hail to the American male!

After a long eclipse, he is again getting some recognition and attention. Again there is some advantage in being a man in this country.

Mister, haven't you noticed lately the way the womenfolk seem to appreciate you more?

For a whole generation, except for World War II when he was found useful for carrying a gun, the American male has been low-rated.

Women took over men's haircuts, their slacks, jobs, sports, politics, their vocabulary—even their razors. The only place a husband felt himself an equal partner in the home was at the kitchen sink—at dishwashing time.

America became a world in which women did most of the talking, most of the dominating, most of the spending.

But, in the midst of their heady power, women made a startling discovery—they also were doing most of the burying. Man, like a sensitive flower deprived of its sun, was dying off.

U. S. women, alarmed by the disclosure that they outnumber U. S. men by two million, appear to be trying to reverse this trend. They are belatedly attempting to save the weaker sex from extinction. The idea of having to listen to themselves in a world without men appalls them.

And the American male, single or married, is reaping wondrous benefits. He is being courted and pampered in a way he does not remember.

"I know half a dozen fine young girls under 25 who want to get married, and have come to me for help," said a matron. "But where are the bachelors? I don't know a one to introduce them to."

A smart boy used to have to sell magazines to get through college. Now, if he is smart, he can pick and choose between any number of girls, sound of wind and tooth, more than eager to marry him and work his way through school for him.

Wives also now realize that, if they want their husbands to survive, they'd better not try to work them to death around the house as well as in the office. In the suburbs you see more and more wives steering the power mower over the lawn while the old man sits on the front porch, sipping a long cool drink.

Yep, boys, it's the new heyday of the American male. Women are taking better care of us. The reason behind it may be a bit hard on our vanity—the fact they've found we're delicate and perishable and must be handled with care—but so what?

If we can't be looked up to, well—it's still nice to be looked after.

Famous Fables

By E. E. EDGAR

STARS: When former President Truman assumed office in 1945, he noted that the President's flag, which stood behind his desk, had four stars on it—to indicate that the President was Commander-in Chief of the Army.

The flag had been designed during the days when the highest ranking general carried three stars on his shoulder. This of course, no longer obtained during World War II.

When the five-star general began coming in to see him, Mr. Truman could not help comparing stars. Although the stars on the flag did not denote rank — the Chief Executive has no rank —it offended his sense of propriety that the President of the United States should be outstarred.

Mr. Truman soon put an end to this state of affairs. He had a new flag made with forty-eight stars encircling the seal.

GALLANT: One night on Broadway actress Dorothy Stickney was in her dressing room preparing to go on stage in the role of a 75 year old woman. The door opened and her husband Howard Lindsey entered.

"Well, dear, how do I look?" asked the actress.

He took in the silvery hair, the stooped figure. the rows of wrinkles. Then, with a bow he said gallantly:

"Darling, I can hardly wait."

FRENCH LIST TOLL

ALGIERS (UP)— More than 12,000 nationalist rebels have died fighting in Algeria during the first four months of this year, French military headquarters reported today. The report said that 2,508 rebels were captured during that period and four-fifths of the weapons that nationalists tried to smuggle into Algeria were seized.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Clergyman Must Look At Audience

A trained public speaker should never rate lower than "Good", and he should then rise to "Better" or "Best". Clergymen who read their manuscripts or break eye-to-eye contact with their audience every few seconds are rank amateurs. So quit leaning on forensic crutches (notes). Become a livewire in the pulpit. The booklet below will show you the surefire formula.

Case Y-306: Norman N., aged 35, is a scholarly clergyman, but the kind that cannot hold his audience.

For he kept dropping his eyes to his notes and reading sections of his sermon.

That's the sign of an amateur on the public platform. A new pastor in his first year, might be excused for such indirectness.

But no man after even one year as a public speaker should ever break his eye-to-eye contact with his audience except for an occasional moment to look at his notes.

And a speaker's notes should not be voluminous nor of the full sentence variety. A dozen "key" words are all that any real orator needs.

Norman started out properly by telling a story concerning an incident that occurred in a previous parish.

But he couldn't even narrate the tale! Instead, he read part of it and dropped his eyes literally a dozen times to finish that simple 2-minute episode.

I'm not exaggerating, for he grew so boring I decided to time his motions. At intervals of every 2 to 11 seconds, he would drop his gaze to his notes and read them.

Notice this typical "up-down" behavior which I timed with my watch, and the following pattern persisted for 30 minutes!

Viewing notes	Viewing audience
5 seconds
	4 seconds
3 seconds
	2 seconds
6 seconds
	5 seconds
11 seconds
	4 seconds

Can you imagine Christ or St. Paul having to spend more time looking down at notes than facing their eager listeners!

CLERGY NEED SALES TRAINING

Clergymen like Norman certainly should have had an internship of a few months at door-to-door selling. For a salesman soon realizes he MUST keep his eyes glued on his prospects constantly.

Otherwise, while he is looking down at his notes, the housewife may shut the door in his face!

Something is sadly wrong with the homiletics departments of our theological seminaries when they graduate men who cannot keep their eyes on the audience for 30 seconds without weakly leaning on the "crutch" of notes.

And clergymen who read their manuscripts or even long passages therefrom, are as out of step with modern platform psychology as the dodo bird.

It takes a livewire in the pulpit to electrify a congregation!

But the "current" must be turned on to get full effect. Whenever a speaker drops his eyes, he figuratively turns off the current!

Topnotch speakers watch their audience like a hawk. They don't break contact by lengthy and repeated glances at notes.

And any clergyman who is full of his subject shouldn't need more than a dozen 3-second glances at his notes for a 30-minute address!

I'm being very strong in my indictment today for anybody who makes his living as a public speaker should certainly know how to SPEAK.

"You can't fill a church till you fill the pulpit," is an old truism.

An indirect speaker who can't look his audience in the eyes almost steadily, is definitely not filling the pulpit.

Get off your forensic crutches (notes) and stand on your own feet. And for a quick summary of "Public Platform Strategy," send for that booklet, enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Even if you left the seminary as a poor speaker, you can become a good one in short order by following the tested formulae in that booklet.

DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

Blood Clot May Cut Off Pulse

It is difficult to be a house painter when pain and weakness develop in the right arm after working a short time. Periodically the victim has to stop for a few moments of rest. A 51 year old Texan affected this way finally went to the Houston University hospital to see what could be done about it. Since distress appeared only in the right arm, obstruction to the flow of blood through an artery was suspected.

Dr. Michael E. DeBakey and his team at the Veterans Administration hospital proceeded along this line. With the aid of special X-rays, they found an occlusion of the blood vessel going to the right arm and, to a lesser extent, to the right side of the brain. But the brain was not affected because apparently it was getting blood from other sources.

The obstruction was bypassed by means of an operation in which an artificial blood vessel made of nylon was inserted to make a detour around the clogged segment. Three months after the operation, the painter was back at work, completely relieved of symptoms.

The patient had aortic arch syndrome. The aorta is the large blood vessel that emerges from the heart. It extends upward in the chest and then makes a loop, or, arch, as it turns downward to bring blood to the abdomen and lower extremities. Blood vessels branch off at the bend and go to the arms and head. Obstruction in these passageways usually affects the circulation to the brain and upper limbs.

In the painter's case a clot was responsible for the disturbed blood flow. In others a congenital anomaly curtails circulation. Blockage due to arteriosclerosis or other diseases of the arteries is noted occasionally.

Takayasu's syndrome, or pulseless disease, is an unusual cause. In this condition, poor circulation to the upper half of the body leads to a variety of symptoms, including lightheadedness, blurring vision, and pain in the affected arms. There is no pulse at the wrist and the blood pressure is unobtainable. Inflammation of the vessels is suspected because the victim has fever and an elevated sedimentation rate. There is no medical or surgical treatment.

Analgesic Action

F. T. writes: In what way does aspirin relieve headache?

Reply

The exact mechanism is not known but it is presumed that the drug deadens the centers where pain is registered. It may act by reducing pressure in the brain or by stimulating the adrenal glands to manufacture a cortisone - like substance.

Wool Chewing

Mrs. R. W. writes: For over a year my 2 year old son has been chewing on anything he can find with wool, especially blankets. Does his diet lack something?

Reply

This may represent pica, a condition in which a child has a perverted appetite for chalk, cigaret butts, or wool.

Partitioned Organ

Mrs. D. writes: Did you ever hear of a double uterus?

Reply

A few instances of duplicate uteri have been recorded but a more common anomaly is a single uterus divided by a partition.

Crops of Boils

Mrs. H. writes: Isn't it unusual for an 8 year old boy to have five boils in a row?

Reply

No, even though crops of boils are more common in adolescence.

Let Me Atone

THE only thing I ask, dear God ... Is that You let me live ... Until I can atone for all ... My sins that You forgive ... To give me time enough on earth ... To heal the wounds I made ... And comfort anybody whom ... I may have made afraid ... I want to serve You faithfully ... And try to make amends ... For all the wrongs that I have done ... To any of my friends ... Forgive me, God, for all the sins ... That are my own to bear ... And charge them not to others now ... On earth or anywhere ... I know I am unworthy but ... As ably as I can ... I want to make my peace with You ... And every fellow man.

Their predecessor, Al Capone, must surely have been sane, for he adjusted brilliantly to the circumstance of Prohibition and established a state within a state, over which he ruled with sawed-off shotgun.

Those who did not adapt their policies to the circumstance of Prohibition, drank homemade bathtub gin and were blinded or they did not drink at all and thirsted because of their absolute principle that the law is the law no matter what one thinks of it.

The world without absolutes in which Bertrand Russell lives is no very great improvement upon the world of Queen Victoria when absolutes reigned even to the point of making it less ill-mannered to have a mistress secretly than to throw the mother of one's children into the gutter to satisfy a fancy.

There were probably as many sinners then as now, but we knew less about them because nobody extolled sin or made heroes of the wicked and heroines of adultresses. Perhaps philosopher Russell would say that it is all in the point of view and that Lana Turner is a jollier person than Florence Nightingale and that in the circumstances of the present age Rita Hayworth should be set up as a model for all schoolgirls and his excellency, the Pakistani ambassador to the United Nations, Aly Khan, as a model for all schoolboys.

Bertrand Russell, by his adjustabilities, spreads confusion in a troubled age. It is the same order of confusion that makes Alger Hiss palatable to Princeton University but not father Hugh Halton. It is the same order of logic which encourages public officials to violate the law if sufficient pressure is put on them, say, by labor leaders. It is the same order of confusion which encourages broken homes to preserve the "happiness" of a mother who has abandoned concern over the welfare and sanity and potential decency of her child. It is the same relativism which encourages social workers to coddle criminals, 20 years of age, but not 21, because they are still juvenile.

If that is sanity, most sane people will pray that the Lord preserve them from it.

Men In America Making Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — Hail to the American male!

After a long eclipse, he is again getting some recognition and attention. Again there is some advantage in being a man in this country.

Mister, haven't you noticed lately the way the womenfolk seem to appreciate you more?

For a whole generation, except for World War II when he was found useful for carrying a gun, the American male has been low-rated.

Women took over men's haircuts, their slacks, jobs, sports, politics, their vocabulary—even their razors, The only place a husband felt himself an equal partner in the home was at the kitchen sink—at dishwashing time.

America became a world in which women did most of the talking, most of the dominating, most of the spending.

But, in the midst of their heady power, women made a startling discovery—they also were doing most of the burying. Man, like a sensitive flower deprived of its sun, was dying off.

U. S. women, alarmed by the disclosure that they outnumber U. S. men by two million, appear to be trying to reverse this trend. They are belatedly attempting to save the weaker sex from extinction. The idea of having to listen to themselves in a world without men appalls them.

And the American male, single or married, is reaping wondrous benefits. He is being courted and pampered in a way he does not remember.

"I know half a dozen fine young girls under 25 who want to get married, and have come to me for help," said a matron. "But where are the bachelors? I don't know a one to introduce them to."

A smart boy used to have to sell magazines to get through college. Now, if he is smart, he can pick and choose between any number of girls, sound of wind and tooth, more than eager to marry him and work his way through school for him.

Wives also now realize that, if they want their husbands to survive, they'd better not try to work them to death around the house as well as in the office. In the suburbs you see more and more wives steering the power mower over the lawn while the old man sits on the front porch, sipping a long cool drink.

Yep, boys, it's the new heyday of the American male. Women are taking better care of us. The reason behind it may be a bit hard on our vanity—the fact they've found we're delicate and perishable and must be handled with care—but so what?

If we can't be looked up to, well—it's still nice to be looked after.

Famous Fables

By E. E. EDGAR

STARS: When former President Truman assumed office in 1945, he noted that the President's flag, which stood behind his desk, had four stars on it—to indicate that the President was Commander-in Chief of the Army.

The flag had been designed during the days when the highest ranking general carried three stars on his shoulder. This of course, no longer obtained during World War II.

When the five-star general began coming in to see him, Mr. Truman could not help comparing stars. Although the stars on the flag did not denote rank — the Chief Executive has no rank —it offended his sense of propriety that the President of the United States should be outstarred.

Mr. Truman soon put an end to this state of affairs. He had a new flag made with forty-eight stars encircling the seal.

GALLANT: One night on Broadway actress Dorothy Stickney was in her dressing room preparing to go on stage in the role of a 75 year old woman. The door opened and her husband Howard Lindsey entered.

"Well, dear, how do I look?" asked the actress.

He took in the silvery hair, the stooped figure. the rows of wrinkles. Then, with a bow he said gallantly:

"Darling, I can hardly wait."

FRENCH LIST TOLL

ALGIERS (UP)— More than 12,000 nationalist rebels have died fighting in Algeria during the first four months of this year, French military headquarters reported today. The report said that 2,508 rebels were captured during that period and four-fifths of the weapons that nationalists tried to smuggle into Algeria were seized.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Clergyman Must Look At Audience

A trained public speaker should never rate lower than "Good", and he should then rise to "Better" or "Best". Clergymen who read their manuscripts or break eye-to-eye contact with their audience every few seconds are rank amateurs. So quit leaning on forensic crutches (notes). Become a livewire in the pulpit. The booklet below will show you the surefire formula.

Case Y-306: Norman N., aged 35, is a scholarly clergyman, but the kind that cannot hold his audience.

For he kept dropping his eyes to his notes and reading sections of his sermon.

That's the sign of an amateur on the public platform. A new pastor in his first year, might be excused for such indirectness.

But no man after even one year as a public speaker should ever break his eye-to-eye contact with his audience except for an occasional moment to look at his notes.

And a speaker's notes should not be voluminous nor of the full sentence variety. A dozen "key" words are all that any real orator needs.

Norman started out properly by telling a story concerning an incident that occurred in a previous parish.

But he couldn't even narrate the tale! Instead, he read part of it and dropped his eyes literally a dozen times to finish that simple 2-minute episode.

I'm not exaggerating, for he grew so boring I decided to time his motions. At intervals of every 2 to 11 seconds, he would drop his gaze to his notes and read them.

Notice this typical "up-down" behavior which I timed with my watch, and the following pattern persisted for 30 minutes!

Viewing notes	Viewing audience
5 seconds
	4 seconds
3 seconds
	2 seconds
6 seconds
	5 seconds
11 seconds
	4 seconds

Can you imagine Christ or St. Paul having to spend more time looking down at notes than facing their eager listeners!

CLERGY NEED SALES TRAINING

Clergymen like Norman certainly should have had an internship of a few months at door-to-door selling. For a salesman soon realizes he MUST keep his eyes glued on his prospects constantly.

Otherwise, while he is looking down at his notes, the housewife may shut the door in his face!

Something is sadly wrong with the homiletics departments of our theological seminaries when they graduate men who cannot keep their eyes on the audience for 30 seconds without weakly leaning on the "crutch" of notes.

And clergymen who read their manuscripts or even long passages therefrom, are as out of step with modern platform psychology as the dodo bird.

It takes a livewire in the pulpit to electrify a congregation!

But the "current" must be turned on to get full effect. Whenever a speaker drops his eyes, he figuratively turns off the current!

Topnotch speakers watch their audience like a hawk. They don't break contact by lengthy and repeated glances at notes.

And any clergyman who is full of his subject shouldn't need more than a dozen 3-second glances at his notes for a 30-minute address!

I'm being very strong in my indictment today for anybody who makes his living as a public speaker should certainly know how to SPEAK.

"You can't fill a church till you fill the pulpit," is an old truism.

An indirect speaker who can't look his audience in the eyes almost steadily, is definitely not filling the pulpit.

Get off your forensic crutches (notes) and stand on your own feet. And for a quick summary of "Public Platform Strategy," send for that booklet, enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Even if you left the seminary as a poor speaker, you can become a good one in short order by following the tested formulae in that booklet.

DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

Blood Clot May Cut Off Pulse

It is difficult to be a house painter when pain and weakness develop in the right arm after working a short time. Periodically the victim has to stop for a few moments of rest. A 51 year old Texan affected this way finally went to the Houston University hospital to see what could be done about it. Since distress appeared only in the right arm, obstruction to the flow of blood through an artery was suspected.

Dr. Michael E. DeBakey and his team at the Veterans Administration hospital proceeded along this line. With the aid of special X-rays, they found an occlusion of the blood vessel going to the right arm and, to a lesser extent, to the right side of the brain. But the brain was not affected because apparently it was getting blood from other sources.

The obstruction was bypassed by means of an operation in which an artificial blood vessel made of nylon was inserted to make a detour around the clogged segment. Three months after the operation, the painter was back at work, completely relieved of symptoms.

The patient had aortic arch syndrome. The aorta is the large blood vessel that emerges from the heart. It extends upward in the chest and then makes a loop, or arch, as it turns downward to bring blood to the abdomen and lower extremities. Blood vessels branch off at the bend and go to the arms and head. Obstruction in these passageways usually affects the circulation to the brain and upper limbs.

In the painter's case a clot was responsible for the disturbed blood flow. In others a congenital anomaly curtails circulation. Blockage due to arteriosclerosis or other diseases of the arteries is noted occasionally.

Takayasu's syndrome, or pulseless disease, is an unusual cause. In this condition, poor circulation to the upper half of the body leads to a variety of symptoms, including lightheadedness, blurring vision, and pain in the affected arms. There is no pulse at the wrist and the blood pressure is unobtainable. Inflammation of the vessels is suspected because the victim has fever and an elevated sedimentation rate. There is no medical or surgical treatment.

Analgesic Action

F. T. writes: In what way does aspirin relieve headache?

Reply

The exact mechanism is not known but it is presumed that the drug deadens the centers where pain is registered. It may act by reducing pressure in the brain or by stimulating the adrenal glands to manufacture a cortisone - like substance.

Wool Chewing

Mrs. R. W. writes: For over a year my 2 year old son has been chewing on anything he can find with wool, especially blankets. Does his diet lack something?

Reply

This may represent pica, a condition in which a child has a perverted appetite for chalk, cigaret butts, or wool.

Partitioned Organ

Mrs. D. writes: Did you ever hear of a double uterus?

Reply

A few instances of duplicate uteri have been recorded but a more common anomaly is a single uterus divided by a partition.

Crops of Boils

Mrs. H. writes: Isn't it unusual for an 8 year old boy to have five boils in a row?

Reply

No, even though crops of boils are more common in adolescence.

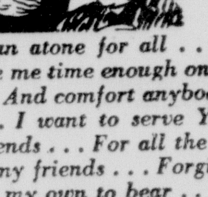
PORTRAITS



By James J. Metcalfe

Let Me Atone

THE only thing I ask, dear God ... Is that You let me live ... Until I can atone for all ... My sins that You forgive ... To give me time enough on earth ... To heal the wounds I made ... And comfort anybody whom ... I may have made afraid ... I want to serve You faithfully ... And try to make amends ... For all the wrongs that I have done ... To any of my friends ... Forgive me, God, for all the sins ... That are my own to bear ... And charge them not to others now ... On earth or anywhere ... I know I am unworthy but ... As ably as I can ... I want to make my peace with You ... And every fellow man.

Commercial Solvent Sues Chemical Firm

SHREVEPORT (Special) — A suit for $425,023 has been filed in federal district court here Thursday by a Sterlington firm against the Shreveport Chemical Enterprises, Inc., and the Dow Chemical Co.

The Commercial Solvents Co. charges that the local firm failed to live up to the terms of a contract between Commercial Solvents and Louisiana Liquid Fertilizer Co., whose stock is now owned by Shreveport Chemical.

Under the terms of the contract Louisiana Liquid allegedly agreed to purchase 4,590 short tons of anhydrous ammonia annually from Commercial Solvents from 1953 to 1960. Since the Shreveport firm bought the Louisiana Liquid stock in February 1956, the ammonia has allegedly been purchased from Dow.

The Sterlington firm claims that Dow Chemical holds two mortgages totaling $3,182,841.86 on Shreveport Chemical. The local firm's property was scheduled to be sold this week to satisfy these mortgages, but Judge Ben C. Dawkins, Jr. has issued an order restraining the sale.

A hearing will be held at 9:15 a.m. next Thursday to determine whether or not a preliminary injunction forbidding the transfer of property and nullifying the mortgages should be issued.

'HELPED EDUCATION'
Educator Gives Sputnik Credit

ATLANTA (AP)—"Sputnik is the finest thing that ever happened to education in America," A. Boyd Campbell, of Jackson, Miss., a past president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, said Friday.

Chairman of the board of the Mississippi School Supply Co. and a member of various government commissions, Campbell told a regional conference on quality education that "not all criticism of the product of our schools is valid. . ."

He noted that children in some foreign school systems accomplish more in 10 years than ours do in 12. But he added that some demands for expanding the study of sciences, that came after the Russians launched the first satellite, are out of place.

"We must not let the Russians stampede us into hysteria, but rather apply common sense criteria," he said. "The Russians have nothing to offer anybody at any level in the world except a full belly at the expense of an empty soul."

Campbell was a member of a synposium on quality education moderated by A. D. Albright, executive dean of extended programs, University of Kentucky.

Albrought said that "American education has always been in a crisis. Just a year ago it was worry over Johnny's reading. Since sputnik it has been science."

Dr. James F. Redmond, superintendent of Orleans Parish schools, New Orleans, La., said both have been installed in his system and are working well. But he said he had "no pat solution" to the overall problem.

Redmond noted that quality education requires creative teaching and he said this is possible only when there is adequate supervision.

Area Farmer Is Injured In Accident

Young Ford said the lug-wheeled tractor developed mechanical trouble and his father was attempting to cut the throttle. He was standing in front of the machine.

The youth said the clutch jammed, causing the tractor to lunge forward, knocking his father to the ground. The tractor rolled over the senior Ford before his son could stop it.

Commercial Solvent Sues Chemical Firm

SHREVEPORT (Special) — A suit for $425,023 has been filed in federal district court here Thursday by a Sterlington firm against the Shreveport Chemical Enterprises, Inc., and the Dow Chemical Co.

The Commercial Solvents Co. charges that the local firm failed to live up to the terms of a contract between Commercial Solvents and Louisiana Liquid Fertilizer Co., whose stock is now owned by Shreveport Chemical.

Under the terms of the contract Louisiana Liquid allegedly agreed to purchase 4,590 short tons of anhydrous ammonia annually from Commercial Solvents from 1953 to 1960. Since the Shreveport firm bought the Louisiana Liquid stock in February 1956, the ammonia has allegedly been purchased from Dow.

The Sterlington firm claims that Dow Chemical holds two mortgages totaling $3,182,841.86 on Shreveport Chemical. The local firm's property was scheduled to be sold this week to satisfy these mortgages, but Judge Ben C. Dawkins, Jr. has issued an order restraining the sale.

A hearing will be held at 9:15 a.m. next Thursday to determine whether or not a preliminary injunction forbidding the transfer of property and nullifying the mortgages should be issued.

Twin Beauty Show Slated At La. Tech

RUSTON (Special) —Ushering in a two-part beauty and talent pageant scheduled for Howard Auditorium at Louisiana Tech on Friday, May 23, a parade will be held in Ruston at 2 p. m. that day, Pearce Colvin, project chairman of the Ruston Jaycees, announced this week.

The twin-bill program, sponsored by the Jaycees, with the Louisiana Tech Student Senate collaborating, is being staged to select a "Miss Louisiana Tech," and a "Miss Lincoln Parish" for competition in the annual "Miss Louisiana" contest at Lake Providence in July.

The parade to form near the engineering building at Tech, will feature the contestants in the dual-purpose pageant, who will ride in convertibles. All Ruston car dealers will enter current model cars in the procession. The Ruston High School band, the Tech Air Force ROTC band, the ROTC drill team and young twirlers under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Cortez also will be in the parade, Colvin said.

Following the parade, the girls will go to the home of Mrs. K. D. Kilpatrick for tea.

At the pageant in the auditorium at 7:30 p.m., the program will consist of the girls' appearances first in swim suits, then in optional attire for talent competition, and finally in evening dresses.

On Thursday evening, preceding the day of pageantry, a rehearsal banquet will be held at a local restaurant for the contestants and the judges.

Water Show Slated At Lake Charles

LAKE CHARLES (Special) — Lake Charles will enter the Louisiana festival swim with a three day summer water carnival June 20-22.

Walter Phillips, temporary chairman of the yet-to-be-named festival, says he will meet with committee chairmen at 4:30 p.m. Monday at the Association of Commerce to complete organizational procedures.

Phillips is the originator of the idea to stage a festival calling attention to Lake Charles and its abundance of natural waterways.

The initial program will be kicked off on the night of Friday, June 20, with the annual Jaycee-sponsored "Miss Lake Charles" contest. For the first year, Miss Lake Charles will reign as festival queen.

'HELPED EDUCATION'

Educator Gives Sputnik Credit

ATLANTA (AP)—"Sputnik is the finest thing that ever happened to education in America," A. Boyd Campbell, of Jackson, Miss., a past president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, said Friday.

Chairman of the board of the Mississippi School Supply Co. and a member of various government commissions, Campbell told a regional conference on quality education that "not all criticism of the product of our schools is valid. . ."

He noted that children in some foreign school systems accomplish more in 10 years than ours do in 12. But he added that some demands for expanding the study of sciences, that came after the Russians launched the first satellite, are out of place.

"We must not let the Russians stampede us into hysteria, but rather apply common sense criteria," he said. "The Russians have nothing to offer anybody at any level in the world except a full belly at the expense of an empty soul."

Campbell was a member of a synposium on quality education moderated by A. D. Albright, executive dean of extended programs, University of Kentucky.

Albrought said that "American education has always been in a crisis. Just a year ago it was worry over Johnny's reading. Since sputnik it has been science."

Dr. James F. Redmond, superintendent of Orleans Parish schools, New Orleans, La., said both have been installed in his system and are working well. But he said he had "no pat solution" to the overall problem.

Redmond noted that quality education requires creative teaching and he said this is possible only when there is adequate supervision.

Area Farmer Is Injured In Accident

JONESVILLE (Special) —A 67-year-old Catahoula parish farmer was in critical condition in a local clinic here last night after a tractor driven by his son ran over him.

B. E. (Esaw) Ford, Jonesville, Rt. 1, was suffering from multiple fractures of the ribs, a collapsed lung, bruises of one leg and possible internal injuries.

The accident ocurred yesterday morning while the victim was helping his son, B. E. Ford, Jr., about 20, ditch land on the youth's farm near here.

Young Ford said the lug-wheeled tractor developed mechanical trouble and his father was attempting to cut the throttle. He was standing in front of the machine.

The youth said the clutch jammed, causing the tractor to lunge forward, knocking his father to the ground. The tractor rolled over the senior Ford before his son could stop it.

Jayne Mansfield's Car Is Smothered In Cannes, France

CANNES, France (AP) — Jayne Mansfield arrived at Nice airport Friday for a brief appearance at the Cannes film festival. About 1,000 curious spectators assembled and autograph seekers smothered her car for five minutes before police could clear a way for it.

Miss Mansfield, discreetly garbed in a black and white striped gown was accompanied by her husband, Mickey Hargitay.

Later, her car pulled up in front of the fashionable Carlton Hotel about half an hour after school classes had been dismissed and the crowd pressed in so strongly that a panel of a revolving door was broken.

Neville Whips Hahnville For State AA Title, 2-1

HAHNVILLE, La. (Special) — Undefeated Neville High of Monroe rode on the strong pitching arm of Louis Kincaid for a second straight victory over Hahnville High, 2-1, here yesterday to clinch the Class AA Louisiana baseball championship. It was the fourth state baseball crown to be won by the Neville club and the first under Charles Brown, the Tigers' new baseball coach in his first season at the helm.

Kincaid put Hahnville away on three hits, and, except for a double served to Gary McDermott in the third inning, he enjoyed a one-hit shutout until the last frame when Hahnville scored its lone run and went down with a possibly tying run on third.

Roland Oubre, ace of Hahnville's chunkers, went all the way to take the defeat with a neat five-hitter.

Held to two singles for four innings, Neville cracked open the scoring in the fifth. Kincaid singled, advanced on Joey McGinn's sacrifice, and romped home on Francis Genusa's single.

Two errors after two were out helped Neville to the winning run in the sixth frame. With two down, Dan Keith was safe on a miscue at shortstop, and Ronnie Sims singled to set Keith up for the final score, coming on an error at third base from a lick off Kincaid's bat.

Hahnville got its seventh inning rally going as Girod Oubre opened with a single. J. F. Lorio was safe on an error, and a single by Harry Prevost sent G. Oubre across the plate. G. Parks sacrificed for the first out, sending J. F. Lorio to third and Prevost to second and the future began to look mighty bright for Hahnville. But Murry popped out to Genusa at shortstop, and McDermott skied out to McGinn at second to end the threat and leave Neville the victory.

Neville had beaten Hahnville, 5-3, in the state finals opener at Monroe on Wednesday.

15-HORSE FIELD

Kingmaker Shoots For 2nd Grey Lag

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Kingmaker will attempt to make it two straight victories in the $50,000-added Grey Lag Handicap Saturday at Jamaica, but he's got the toughest opposition seen in the East this season.

Fifteen handicap stars were entered for the mile and one-eighth event which features the close of Jamaica's 33-day spring meeting.

On Monday the horses move to Belmont Park, where the 83rd running of the famed Withers Mile for 3-year-olds is the main attraction.

Kingmaker, owned by the Happy Hill Farm of Cortwright Wetherill, won the 1957 Grey Lag, breaking the track record. Two weeks ago he won the Excelsior Handicap at Jamaica, beating many of the horses he meets again Saturday.

The probable choice, however, is Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' entry of Promised Land, the 125 pound top weight, and Paper Tiger, 115. Kingmaker packs 123 pounds.

Another tough customer in the lineup is the Brookmeade Stable's Oligarchy, with 117. Oligarchy won the Widener Handicap at Hialeah last winter, and took the [illegible] Handicap April 26.

Other recent stakes winners in the race include Harry F. Guggenheim's One-Eyed King (Lincoln Special), 115; Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Oh Johnny (Gotham), 119; Edward Seinfeld's Admiral Vee (Paumonok), 118; Promised Land won two $100,000 races, the San Juan Capistrano and the Campbell Memorial, this year.

C. T. Chenery's Third Brother, second in the Excelsior, has 120, and the King Ranch's Beam Rider, third in that race, has 108. Beam Rider ran second last year when Kingmaker won the Grey Lag in 1:48 1-5, shaving three-fifths off the track mark set a week or so earlier by Bold Ruler in the Wood Memorial.

Alfred Vanderbilt's Find, the 1953 Grey Lag winner who finished second when Nashua took the race in 1956, is back for another try under 119 pounds.

Completing the field are Mrs. John R. H. Thouron's Ben Lomond, 115; Robert O. J. Streuber's Pylades, third in the 1957 race, 106; the Maine Chance Farm's Busher Fantasy, 107; Jan Burke's Field of Honor, 107; and Jack W. Schiffer's General Arthur, 110.

Kingmaker has no jockey, due to the suspension of Bobby Ussery. Trainer F. I. Wright is hopeful that Busher Fantasy might be scratched, which would permit him to use Manuel Ycaza.

Ismael Valenzuela, Kentucky Derby winner with Tim Tam, pilots Promised Land, with Sam Boulmetis on Oligarchy, Conn McCreary aboard One-Eyed King, Bill Boland on Oh Johnny, and Eddie Arcaro on Find.

With 15 starters the race will be worth $60,000, the winner netting $38,400.

Tigers Tame Athletics On 4 Hits, 7 To 1

DETROIT (AP) — Ray Boone broke out of a batting slump with a three run homer in the first inning and the Detroit Tigers went on to defeat the Kansas City Athletics 7-1 Friday night behind Paul Foytack's four hit pitching.

The only run off the Tiger righthander was unearned as his mates pinned the first defeat on ex-teammate Ned Garver after three straight wins.

Boone plopped a wrong-field home run into the lower right field deck behind a pair of walks, ending a slump in which he had gone hitless in a dozen at-bats. The 34-year-old first baseman, who had not batted in a run in nearly three weeks, accounted for two more tallies in the eighth inning, when the Tigers routed Garver with a four run burst.

Foytack, winning his third game against two setbacks, did not allow more than one hit in any inning and was supported by three double plays.

The only Kansas City run came in the third inning when Mike Baxes doubled, took third on an outfield fly and scored when Billy Martin threw high to first on Vic Powers' grounder.

Foytack and Garver thrilled a crowd of 19,571 with a steady duel until the eighth when Garver weakened.

The Tigers batted around with Kuenn and Boone getting doubles and Reno Bertoia and Jim Hegan adding singles. Garver walked one batter in the inning and relief pitcher Virgil Trucks let in another run with a wild throw.

Hanson Nabs Two-Stroke Lawton Lead

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—Bev Hanson's putter turned hot Friday and she blazed into the lead in the third annual Lawton Women's Open Golf Tournament with 2-under par 70.

The Indio, Calif., golfer used only 11 putts on the back nine in fashioning her 38-32 score. It was even more remarkable because of the waterlogged- fairways and greens due to an overnight downpour.

Trailing Miss Hanson by two strokes were Marilyn Smith, Wichita, Kan., and Wiffi Smith, Orange, Tex., who matched par with one-over front nines and a 1-under back nines on the 7,100-yard Lawton Municipal Course.

Holding down fourth in the $5,000 tourney was Marlene Hagge, defending champion from Sarasota, Fla., who slipped one over par with 35-38—73.

Second round of the 54-hole tournament is scheduled for Saturday with the finals slated for Sunday.

The leaders:

Bev Hanson	38-32—70
Marilynn Smith	37-35—72

Ortiz Beats Lopes In 10 Round Scrap

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lightweight Carlos Ortiz of New York and his wicked left, punched out a decisive and unanimous 10-round decision over Joey Lopes of Sacramento, Calif., at Hollywood Legion Stadium Friday night.

Ortiz weighed 135, Lopes 133½. The victory was number 27 without a defeat for the 21-year-old New Yorker in the nationally televised fight, filled with action from start to finish.

Only a handful of fans turned out for the match, which was televised locally and was followed immediately on the air lanes by the San Francisco - Dodger baseball game from San Francisco.

Referee Charley Randolph and Judge George Latka scored it 98-92 for Ortiz and Judge Jimmy Wilson had it 97-92. The Associated Press had it 99-93 under California's 10-point must per round scoring system.

Ortiz was penalized one point for an unintentional low blow in the fifth round. It caused no damage.

In post position order the horses line up with Social Climber, Sueco, Barbarian, Eddie Schmidt, Tall Chief II, Holandes II and Ekaba.

SPLIT WITH MCNEESE

Northeast In First Place In Gulf's Baseball Race

LAKE CHARLES, La. (Special) —Northeast took over first place in the Gulf States Conference's torrid baseball race here yesterday by splitting two games with McNeese, winning the first game, a continuation of an April 19 tie, 2-1, then lost a regulation tilt, 18-9.

The split made George Luffey's Indians the only club in the conference over the .500 mark with a 6-5 record. Four teams .500 percentages. Tech is 4-4, Northwestern, 7-7, Southeastern are tied for second place with 5-5 and McNeese is now 6-6. SLI is in the cellar with a 5-6 mark.

Northeast goes to Lafayette today for a doubleheader with the basement occupants, SLI. Northeast will complete its conference schedule some time next week with single games with Tech and Southeastern, both rained out earlier in the season. Both games will be in Monroe.

McNeese and Northeast took up the tie game in the bottom of the 8th where rain stopped it in April. They battled on even terms until the bottom of the 10th when the Indians scored with two out. Gary Huckabay singled and came all the way home on James Mock's booming double.

Lyle Dorsey was the leading hitter for Northeast with 2-4 while Red Rushing, Ike McMullen, Huckabay, Mock and Bob Groves collected the rest of Northeast's 7 hits.

Jay Gross copped the win for the Indians, allowing only six hits, three of them by Lennie Kahn.

McNeese's Cowboys unleased a savage assault in the second game, shelling Gross from the mound in the first inning on their way to 9 runs in the frame. Left-hander Jackie Norman relieved Gross and righty Huey Jinks came in the third with the sacks full and nobody out.

McNeese crashed out 17 hits in the slugfest with pitcher Decker, who went all the way for the win, getting 4-5. Frank Glenn homered for the Cowboys.

McNeese followed up its first inning rampage with three more runs in the second, one in the third, two each in the fourth and fifth and a single talley in the eighth.

Northeast pecked away at Decker for a single run in the first and sent five runs across in the second. They finished up with single runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth.

Despite the loss, the Indians had one of their better days at the plate, solving Decker for 10 hits, three of them homers.

Shortstop and Captain Harry "Red" Rushing hit one of the roundtrippers, Mock another and Dorsey blasted one 400 feet. Mock had three hits in four trips to lead the hitting and Rushing and Groves each gathered two safties.

Lefty Terry Reeves and right-hander Carroll George will start for Northeast today. Each has a 3-1 record.

Neville Whips Hahnville For State AA Title, 2-1

HAHNVILLE, La. (Special) —Undefeated Neville High of Monroe rode on the strong pitching arm of Louis Kincaid for a second straight victory over Hahnville High, 2-1, here yesterday to clinch the Class AA Louisiana baseball championship. It was the fourth state baseball crown to be won by the Neville club and the first under Charles Brown, the Tigers' new baseball coach in his first season at the helm.

Kincaid put Hahnville away on three hits, and, except for a double served to Gary McDermott in the third inning, he enjoyed a one-hit shutout until the last frame when Hahnville scored its lone run and went down with a possibly tying run on third.

Roland Oubre, ace of Hahnville's chunkers, went all the way to take the defeat with a neat five-hitter.

Held to two singles for four innings, Neville cracked open the scoring in the fifth. Kincaid singled, advanced on Joey McGinn's sacrifice, and romped home on Francis Genusa's single.

Two errors after two were out helped Neville to the winning run in the sixth frame. With two down, Dan Keith was safe on a miscue at shortstop, and Ronnie Sims singled to set Keith up for the final score, coming on an error at third base from a lick off Kincaid's bat.

Hahnville got its seventh inning rally going as Girod Oubre opened with a single. J. F. Lorio was safe on an error, and a single by Harry Prevost sent G. Oubre across the plate. G. Parks sacrificed for the first out, sending J. F. Lorio to third and Prevost to second and the future began to look mighty bright for Hahnville. But Murry popped out to Genusa at shortstop, and McDermott skied out to McGinn at second to end the threat and leave Neville the victory.

Neville had beaten Hahnville, 5-3, in the state finals opener at Monroe on Wednesday.

15-HORSE FIELD

Kingmaker Shoots For 2nd Grey Lag

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Kingmaker will attempt to make it two straight victories in the $50,000-added Grey Lag Handicap Saturday at Jamaica, but he's got the toughest opposition seen in the East this season.

Fifteen handicap stars were entered for the mile and one-eighth event which features the close of Jamaica's 38-day spring meeting.

On Monday the horses move to Belmont Park, where the 83rd running of the famed Withers Mile for 3-year-olds is the main attraction.

Kingmaker, owned by the Happy Hill Farm of Cortwright Wetherill, won the 1957 Grey Lag, breaking the track record. Two weeks ago he won the Excelsior Handicap at Jamaica, beating many of the horses he meets again Saturday.

The probable choice, however, is Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs entry of Promised Land, the 125 pound top weight, and Paper Tiger, 115. Kingmaker packs 123 pounds.

Another tough customer in the lineup is the Brookmeade Stable's Oligarchy, with 117. Oligarchy won the Widener Handicap at Hialeah last winter, and took the Laurel Handicap April 26.

Other recent stakes winners in the race include Harry F. Guggenheim's One-Eyed King (Lincoln Special), 115; Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Oh Johnny (Gotham), 119 Edward Seinfeld's Admiral Vee (Paumonok), 118. Promised Land won two $100,000 races, the San Juan Capistrano and the Campbell Memorial, this year.

C. T. Chenery's Third Brother, second in the Excelsior, has 120, and the King Ranch's Beam Rider, third in that race, has 108. Beam Rider ran second last year when Kingmaker won the Grey Lag in 1:48 1-5, shaving three-fifths off the track mark set a week or so earlier by Bold Ruler in the Wood Memorial.

Alfred Vanderbilt's Find, the 1953 Grey Lag winner who finished second when Nashua took the race in 1956, is back for another try under 119 pounds.

Completing the field are Mrs. John R. H. Thouron's Ben Lomond, 115; Robert O. J. Streuber's Pylades, third in the 1957 race, 106; the Maine Chance Farm's Busher Fantasy, 107; Jan Burke's Field of Honor, 107; and Jack W. Schiffer's General Arthur, 110.

Kingmaker has no jockey, due to the suspension of Bobby Ussery. Trainer F. I. Wright is hopeful that Busher Fantasy might be scratched, which would permit him to use Manuel Ycaza.

Ismael Valenzuela, Kentucky Derby winner with Tim Tam, pilots Promised Land, with Sam Boulmetis on Oligarchy, Conn McCreary aboard One-Eyed King, Bill Boland on Oh Johnny, and Eddie Arcaro on Find.

With 15 starters the race will be worth $60,000, the winner netting $38,400.

Tigers Tame Athletics On 4 Hits, 7 To 1

DETROIT (AP) — Ray Boone broke out of a batting slump with a three run homer in the first inning and the Detroit Tigers went on to defeat the Kansas City Athletics 7-1 Friday night behind Paul Foytack's four hit pitching.

The only run off the Tiger righthander was unearned as his mates pinned the first defeat on exteammate Ned Garver after three straight wins.

Boone plopped a wrong - field home run into the lower right field deck behind a pair of walks, ending a slump in which he had gone hitless in a dozen at-bats. The 34-year - old first baseman, who had not batted in a run in nearly three weeks, accounted for two more tallies in the eighth inning, when the Tigers routed Garver with a four run burst.

Foytack, winning his third game against two setbacks, did not allow more than one hit in any inning and was supported by three double plays.

The only Kansas City run came in the third inning when Mike Baxes doubled, took third on an outfield fly and scored when Billy Martin threw high to first on Vic Powers' grounder.

Foytack and Garver thrilled a crowd of 19,571 with a steady duel until the eighth when Garver weakened.

The Tigers batted around with Kuenn and Boone getting doubles and Reno Bertoia and Jim Hegan adding singles. Garver walked one batter in the inning and relief pitcher Virgil Trucks let in another run with a wild throw.

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—Bev Hanson's putter turned hot Friday and she blazed into the lead in the third annual Lawton Women's Open Golf Tournament with 2-under par 70.

The Indio, Calif., golfer used only 11 putts on the back nine in fashioning her 38-32 score. It was even more remarkable because of the waterlogged- fairways and greens due to an overnight downpour.

Trailing Miss Hanson by two strokes were Marilyn Smith, Wichita, Kan., and Wiffi Smith, Orange, Tex., who matched par with one-over front nines and a 1-under back nines on the 7,100-yard Lawton Municipal Course.

Holding down fourth in the $5,000 tourney was Marlene Hagge, defending champion from Sarasota, Fla., who slipped one over par with 35-38—73.

Second round of the 54-hole tournament is scheduled for Saturday with the finals slated for Sunday.

The leaders:

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A tipoff on whether Notre Dame will charge all the way back to the top of the college football heap next fall may develop in Saturday's "old timer" game.

The regulation contest climaxes spring drills for the Irish and pits the varsity against some of Notre Dame's finest players of recent vintage.

Ortiz Beats Lopes In 10 Round Scrap

Ortiz weighed 135, Lopes 133½.

The victory was number 27 without a defeat for the 21-year-old New Yorker in the nationally televised fight, filled with action from start to finish.

Only a handful of fans turned out for the match, which was televised locally and was followed immediately on the air lanes by the San Francisco - Dodger baseball game from San Francisco.

Referee Charley Randolph and Judge George Latka scored it 98-92 for Ortiz and Judge Jimmy Wilson had it 97-92. The Associated Press had it 99-93 under California's 10-point must per round scoring system.

Ortiz was penalized one point for an unintentional low blow in the fifth round. It caused no damage.

In post position order the horses line up with Social Climber, Sueco, Barbarian, Eddie Schmidt, Tall Chief II, Holandes II and Ekaba.

SPLIT WITH MCNEESE

Northeast In First Place In Gulf's Baseball Race

LAKE CHARLES, La. (Special) —Northeast took over first place in the Gulf States Conference's torrid baseball race here yesterday by splitting two games with McNeese, winning the first game, a continuation of an April 19 tie, 2-1, then lost a regulation tilt, 18-9.

The split made George Luffey's Indians the only club in the conference over the .500 mark with a 6-5 record. Four teams .500 percentages. Tech is 4-4, Northwestern, 7-7, Southeastern are tied for second place with 5-5 and McNeese is now 6-6. SLI is in the cellar with a 5-6 mark.

Northeast goes to Lafayette today for a doubleheader with the basement occupants, SLI. Northeast will complete its conference schedule some time next week with single games with Tech and Southeastern, both rained out earlier in the season. Both games will be in Monroe.

McNeese and Northeast took up the tie game in the bottom of the 8th where rain stopped it in April. They battled on even terms until the bottom of the 10th when the Indians scored with two out. Gary Huckabay singled and came all the way home on James Mock's booming double.

Lyle Dorsey was the leading hitter for Northeast with 2-4 while Red Rushing, Ike McMullen, Huckabay, Mock and Bob Groves collected the rest of Northeast's 7 hits.

Jay Gross copped the win for the Indians, allowing only six hits, three of them by Lennie Kahn.

McNeese's Cowboys unleased a savage assault in the second game, shelling Gross from the mound in the first inning on their way to 9 runs in the frame. Lefthander Jackie Norman relieved Gross and righty Huey Jinks came in the third with the sacks full and nobody out.

McNeese crashed out 17 hits in the slugfest with pitcher Decker, who went all the way for the win, getting 4-5. Frank Glenn homered for the Cowboys.

McNeese followed up its first inning rampage with three more runs in the second, one in the third, two each in the fourth and fifth and a single talley in the eighth.

Northeast pecked away at Decker for a single run in the first and sent five runs across in the second. They finished up with single runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth.

Despite the loss, the Indians had one of their better days at the plate, solving Decker for 10 hits, three of them homers.

Shortstop and Captain Harry "Red" Rushing hit one of the roundtrippers, Mock another and Dorsey blasted one 400 feet. Mock had three hits in four trips to lead the hitting and Rushing and Groves each gathered two safties.

Lefty Terry Reeves and righthander Carroll George will start for Northeast today. Each has a 3-1 record.

TURLEY WINNER

Yankees Cool Threatening Senators In 9-5 Contest

NEW YORK (AP)—Big Bob Turley stayed unbeaten with his fourth victory Friday night, giving up seven hits, striking out nine and belting his second major league homer as the New York Yankees knocked off Washington's "contending" Senators 9-5.

Turley, backed up by homers from Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra, now has won nine in a row from Washington. The Senators, who last beat the 27-year-old right hander on Memorial Day, 1955, retained second despite the defeat but trail the American League leading Yankees by 1½ games.

Berra, slumping along with a .192 average, drove in three runs. His third homer of the year opened a two-run second that tied it 2-all, and his sacrifice fly cracked a 4-4 tie in the fifth. He also singled home a run as the Yankees wrapped it up with three in the seventh.

Turley, who stood dumbfounded at the plate as he watched his liner rach the left field seats in the eighth, gave up homers to Ken Aspromonte and Neil Chrisley, their first in the majors, but seldom was in serious trouble while gaining his fourth straight complete game.

Chrisley's shot was a pinch-hit job in the ninth.

Right-hander Pete Ramos lost his first in three decisions, giving up the Berra and Mantle homers before giving way to a pinch hitter in the sixth.

Mantle's homer, his second of the year, was an inside-the-park blow on a 460-foot fly to the monuments in center field. That made it a 3-2 ball game in the third.

The Senators took a 4-3 lead in the fourth as Norm Zauchin hit a one-on homer, but the Yankees tied it in their fourth on three singles and an error.

A walk, singles by Mantle and Berra, a force out and an error piled up the three in the seventh.

Turley, with a 1.25 earned run average, hit his only other home run in 1953 when he was with the then St. Louis Browns. It too was against Washington.

WHITE SOX WIN

Wynn Checks Old Teammates, 5-0

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Veteran right-hander Early Wynn held his old Cleveland mates to two hits and was backed by Ted Beard's first American League homer in a 5-0 Chicago White Sox triumph over the Indians Friday.

Cleveland's star freshman, Jim "Mudcat" Grant, absorbed his first loss after three victories.

The 38-year-old Wynn, making his first start against Cleveland since his final Washington year in 1948, retired 16 consecutive batters between a second-inning single by Russ Nixon and a seventh-inning double by Rocky Colavito.

Wynn faced only 31 batters. He walked three and struck out five. It was Wynn's second triumph as a White Soxer against as many defeats.

It marked only the 5th victory in 16 starts for last-place Chicago.

Beard, who hit the last of his five National League homers for Pittsburgh in 1951, smashed his first American loop homer with Wynn aboard in the fourth for a 4-0 Chicago lead. Beard's clout came off Grant, who left the game one batter later with a yield of 7 hits in 3 1-3 innings.

Jim Rivera's double and Bubba Phillips' single scored Chicago's first run in the second. A bases-loaded single by Luis Aparicio in the third gave the Sox a 2-0 lead.

Grant's successor, Cal McLish, gave Chicago its fifth run in the fifth. Phillips singled, stole second and scored on Wynn's scratch single.

Dick Tomanek replaced McLish to start the sixth and held the Sox scoreless the rest of the way.

Only one Indian advanced as far as third. Bobby Avila walked with one out in the first, stole second and took third on an infield out.

But Mickey Vernon popped out to end the inning.

Bucs Use Klu's Homer For Win

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Ted Kluszewski broke up a tight pitchers battle with a lead off solo homer in the bottom of the 12th and earned the Pittsburgh Pirates a 1-0 victory Friday night over the Philadelphia Phillies and Robin Roberts.

Roberts, who absorbed his fourth defeat against one victory, deserved a better fate. He allowed the Pirates only four hits, striking out six and walking four.

Kluszewski's homer — his third of the season—gave Ronnie Kline his third victory of the year and the Pirates first shutout.

Kline gave up eight hits and walked two but was tough in the clutches. He's given up only two runs now in 29 innings.

The Phillies jammed the sacks in the fourth inning on back-to-back singles by Granny Hamner, Stan Lopata and Ted Kazanski but failed to score.

Old Pueblo To Run In Today's Debonair Stakes

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Old Pueblo, hoping to regain a place in the racing spotlight, and five rival 3-year-olds were named to run in the $2,000 added Debonair Stakes at Hollywood Park on Saturday.

Old Pueblo was unbeaten in six starts as a 2-year-old, and ran the streak to eight this winter at Santa Anita. But he lost prestige in two straight races, including a fourth to Silky Sullivan in the Santa Anita Derby.

Given a rest, Old Pueblo has trained sharply and will carry high weight of 127 pounds for the Debonair, at six furlongs.

Weight for the others is 112 pounds.

C. W. Smith's Hillsdale, with a creditable third to Tim Tam and Nadir last month at Keeneland, and Warner Ranch's Aliwar are expected to furnish most of the opposition to Old Pueblo.

END LOSING STREAK

Cards Nose Out Surprising Cubs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals snapped a losing streak at seven by edging the Chicago Cubs 3-2 Friday night on a seven-hitter by Sam Jones. It was the first Cardinal victory at Busch Stadium this season.

Stan Musial, just seven hits away from his 3,000th safety, was held hitless for the first time in 18 Cardinal games this year. He hit into a force play and bounced out on infield grounders three times.

Wally Moon, brought off the bench to start the game in another revamped line-up, drove in the second Cardinal run with a triple in the fourth and then scored on Hal Smith's single. Joe Cunningham walked ahead of Moon.

Jones struck out seven in gaining his first victory of the year. He has been beaten three times.

Chicago's runs came on catcher Sammy Taylor's two-run blast to the right field pavilion roof in the seventh. Taylor scored behind Dale Long, who led off the inning with a single. Jones had struck out two batters just before Taylor hit his second homer of the season.

Moe Drabowsky, who had pitched only three innings since his discharge from the Army, walked the first two Cardinals to face him, Dick Schofield and Don Blasingame. After two were out Cunningham bunted safely and Schofield scored a first-inning run for St. Louis.

The Cardinals could muster only four hits, three of them off Drabowsky, who was charged with his second defeat against one victory. Drabowsky was lifted for a pinch batter after pitching the first four innings.

Rain Kills 2nd Round Of Hot Springs Open

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A cloudburst knocked out the second round of the Hot Springs Open Golf Tournament Friday, driving the players from the course after only a half dozen threesomes had finished.

Scores of those who had finished were wiped out when the rain forced a postponement of play.

Tournament officials said that one round will be played Saturday and the field will then be cut to the low 60 pros and 10 amateurs for a 36-hole finale Sunday.

Tourney leader remains Tommy Bolt of Paradise, Fla. who shot 66 Thursay. Bolt was two under par on the eighth hole when the skies opened up Friday.

Spahn Wins 5th For Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wes Covington smashed a tremendous three-run homer in the eighth Friday night to pull the first-place Milwaukee Braves from behind as they won their fifth straight by beating the Cincinnati Redlegs 5 - 3.

It was also the fifth victory for unbeaten Warren Spahn who was making his sixth start. Spahn, first in the majors to post five victories this season, also had three hits, a double and two singles. He drove in Milwaukee's first run.

In stepping to the victory Spahn fanned three and walked four. He gave up nine hits as the Braves collected 12.

Covington's homer was his third of the season. He also scored the Braves' first run in the fifth after he had singled.

The homer routed Redleg starter Bob Purkey who holds the only shutout over the Braves this season. The right-hander was sailing along on a seven-hitter until the eighth when Hank Aaron singled after one was out, Frank Torre singled and then Covington decided the game with his blast over the right field fence. It was the first loss for Purkey, now 3-1.

The Redlegs took advantage of two errors and a bit of Milwaukee strategy that misfired to put their three runs over the plate in the fifth.

Alex Grammas reached first when Frank Toore dropped a throw by Johnny Logan. After an out Johnny Temple beat out a bunt, Pete Whisenant got a single, scoring Grammas. Frank Robinson was walked to fill the bases, but Steve Bilko crossed up Spahn by drilling a single to left, Temple and Whisenant scoring.

Milwaukee came back for two runs in its half of the fifth as Covington opened with a single and went home on a double by Spahn. After Red Schoendienst got his second single, Spahn scored on a single to center by Johnny Logan.

Rain Postpones 24 AL Contests

The entire 1957 league season produced only 23 postponements. The record is 97, set in 1935.

4TH FOR SISLER

Red Sox Batter Baltimore, 13-5

BALTIMORE (AP) — Boston battered Baltimore 13-5 Friday night with a 14-hit attack while Dave Sisler picked up his fourth victory of the season. Jim Piersall led the Red Sox attack with a double and two singles and drove in three runs.

Sisler, strong right-hander who has lost only one, helped his own cause with a single and double and only faltered on the mound in the first and ninth innings.

The Sox carved out their fourth American League triumph in a row before 13,918 fans, pounding starter and loser Billy O'Dell, Chuck Beamon and Jerry Walker for four doubles and 10 singles.

A sloppy Oriole defense that committed three errors contributed to the losers' downfall.

All Red Sox starters except Dick Gernert joined in the attack with Ted Williams and Gene Stephens each knocking in a pair of runs.

O'Dell, who has a 2-3 record, ran into the Bosox buzzsaw in the second inning. Frank Malzone and an White singled in that five-run frame, and Piersall brought in two runs with a double.

Don Buddin also rapped a double and later scored when Oriole catcher Gus Triandos dropped a throw from O'Dell.

Boston also picked up a pair of runs in each of the fourth, fifth, sixth and ninth innings.

The Birds scored twice in the first when Billy Gardner singled, went to second on Gene Woodling's walk and came home on Bob Nieman's double. Woodling, who went to third on Nieman's hit, scored on Jim Marshall's fly.

Baltimore managed three runs in the final inning on three singles, a double, sacrifice fly, and a Boston error.

Houston Tennis Team Captures Conference Title

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Houston Friday won the 40th annual Missouri Valley Conference Tennis Tournament, and in doing so lived up to their role as tourney favorites.

The Cougars, snaring the fifth consecutive crown, tied a mark set by Washington University of St. Louis, which had held the title from 1930-34.

With the exception of a victory by Oklahoma State in 1953 the Cougars have now held the championship since 1951.

Paced by methodical Cliff Vickery, who won the first division singles title, and then teamed to win the doubles match, Houston won all of its matches.

TURLEY WINNER

Yankees Cool Threatening Senators In 9-5 Contest

NEW YORK (AP)—Big Bob Turley stayed unbeaten with his fourth victory Friday night, giving up seven hits, striking out nine and belting his second major league homer as the New York Yankees knocked off Washington's "contending" Senators 9-5.

Turley, backed up by homers from Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra, now has won nine in a row from Washington. The Senators, who last beat the 27-year-old right hander on Memorial Day, 1955, retained second despite the defeat but trail the American League leading Yankees by 1½ games.

Berra, slumping along with a .192 average, drove in three runs. His third homer of the year opened a two-run second that tied it 2-all, and his sacrifice fly cracked a 4-4 tie in the fifth. He also singled home a run as the Yankees wrapped it up with three in the seventh.

Turley, who stood dumbfounded at the plate as he watched his liner rach the left field seats in the eighth, gave up homers to Ken Aspromonte and Neil Chrisley, their first in the majors, but seldom was in serious trouble while gaining his fourth straight complete game.

Chrisley's shot was a pinch-hit job in the ninth.

Right-hander Pete Ramos lost his first in three decisions, giving up the Berra and Mantle homers before giving way to a pinch hitter in the sixth.

Mantle's homer, his second of the year, was an inside-the-park blow on a 460-foot fly to the monuments in center field. That made it a 3-2 ball game in the third.

The Senators took a 4-3 lead in the fourth as Norm Zauchin hit a one-on homer, but the Yankees tied it in their fourth on three singles and an error.

A walk, singles by Mantle and Berra, a force out and an error piled up the three in the seventh.

Turley, with a 1.25 earned run average, hit his only other home run in 1953 when he was with the then St. Louis Browns. It too was against Washington.

Bucs Use Klu's Homer For Win

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Ted Kluszewski broke up a tight pitchers battle with a lead off solo homer in the bottom of the 12th and earned the Pittsburgh Pirates a 1-0 victory Friday night over the Philadelphia Phillies and Robin Roberts.

Roberts, who absorbed his fourth defeat against one victory, deserved a better fate. He allowed the Pirates only four hits, striking out six and walking four.

Kluszewski's homer — his third of the season—gave Ronnie Kline his third victory of the year and the Pirates first shutout.

Kline gave up eight hits and walked two but was tough in the clutches. He's given up only two runs now in 29 innings.

The Phillies jammed the sacks in the fourth inning on back-to-back singles by Granny Hamner, Stan Lopata and Ted Kazanski but failed to score.

A sparkling play by Roberto Clemente erased the threat. With one out Chico Fernandez drilled one to right. Clemente grabbed the ball for the out and rifled the ball to the plate to nail Hamner for the double play.

Spahn Wins 5th For Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wes Covington smashed a tremendous three-run homer in the eighth Friday night to pull the first-place Milwaukee Braves from behind as they won their fifth straight by beating the Cincinnati Redlegs 5 - 3.

It was also the fifth victory for unbeaten Warren Spahn who was making his sixth start. Spahn, first in the majors to post five victories this season, also had three hits, a double and two singles. He drove in Milwaukee's first run.

In stepping to the victory Spahn fanned three and walked four. He gave up nine hits as the Braves collected 12.

Covington's homer was his third of the season. He also scored the Braves' first run in the fifth after he had singled.

His homer routed Redleg starter Bob Purkey who holds the only shutout over the Braves this season. The right-hander was sailing along on a seven-hitter until the eighth when Hank Aaron singled after one was out. Frank Torre singled and then Covington decided the game with his blast over the right field fence. It was the first loss for Purkey, now 3-1.

The Redlegs took advantage of two errors and a bit of Milwaukee strategy that misfired to put their three runs over the plate in the fifth.

Alex Grammas reached first when Frank Toore dropped a throw by Johnny Logan. After an out Johnny Temple beat out a bunt, Pete Whisenant got a single, scoring Grammas. Frank Robinson was walked to fill the bases, but Steve Bilko crossed up Spahn by drilling a single to left, Temple and Whisenant scoring.

Milwaukee came back for two runs in its half of the fifth as Covington opened with a single and went home on a double by Spahn. After Red Schoendienst got his second single, Spahn scored on a single to center by Johnny Logan.

O'Dell, who has a 2-3 record, ran into the Bosox buzzsaw in the second inning. Frank Malzone and am White singled in that five-run frame, and Piersall brought in two runs with a double.

Don Buddin also rapped a double and later scored when Oriole catcher Gus Triandos dropped a throw from O'Dell.

Boston also picked up a pair of runs in each of the fourth, fifth, sixth and ninth innings.

The Birds scored twice in the first when Billy Gardner singled, went to second on Gene Woodling's walk and came home on Bob Nieman's double. Woodling, who went to third on Nieman's hit, scored on Jim Marshall's fly.

Baltimore managed three runs in the final inning on three singles, a double, sacrifice fly, and a Boston error.

Houston Tennis Team Captures Conference Title

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Houston Friday won the 40th annual Missouri Valley Conference Tennis Tournament, and in doing so lived up to their role as tourney favorites.

The Cougars, snaring the fifth consecutive crown, tied a mark set by Washington University of St. Louis, which had held the title from 1930-34.

With the exception of a victory by Oklahoma State in 1953 the Cougars have now held the championship since 1951.

Paced by methodical Cliff Vickery, who won the first division singles title, and then teamed to win the doubles match, Houston won all of its matches.

Rain Postpones 24 AL Contests

CHICAGO (AP)—Bad weather has caused 25 American League games to be postponed in the still young season, the league office reported Friday.

The entire 1957 league season produced only 23 postponements. The record is 97, set in 1935.

END LOSING STREAK

Cards Nose Out Surprising Cubs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals snapped a losing streak at seven by edging the Chicago Cubs 3-2 Friday night on a seven-hitter by Sam Jones. It was the first Cardinal victory at Busch Stadium this season.

Stan Musial, just seven hits away from his 3,000th safety, was held hitless for the first time in 18 Cardinal games this year. He hit into a force play and bounced out on infield grounders three times.

Wally Moon, brought off the bench to start the game in another ervamped line-up, drove in the second Cardinal run with a triple in the fourth and then scored on Hal Smith's single. Joe Cunningham walked ahead of Moon.

Jones struck out seven in gaining his first victory of the year. He has been beaten three times.

Chicago's runs came on catcher Sammy Taylor's two-run blast to the right field pavilion roof in the seventh. Taylor scored behind Dale Long, who led off the inning with a single. Jones had struck out two batters just before Taylor hit his second homer of the season.

Moe Drabowsky, who had pitched only three innings since his discharge from the Army, walked the first two Cardinals to face him, Dick Schofield and Don Blasingame. After two were out Cunningham bunted safely and Schofield scored a first-inning run for St. Louis.

The Cardnials could muster only four hits, three of them off Drabowsky, who was charged with his second defeat against one victory. Drabowsky was lifted for a pinch batter after pitching the first four innings.

Rain Kills 2nd Round Of Hot Springs Open

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A cloudburst knocked out the second round of the Hot Springs Open Golf Tournament Friday, driving the players from the course after only a half dozen threesomes had finished.

Scores of those who had finished were wiped out when the rain forced a postponement of play.

Tournament officials said that one round will be played Saturday and the field will then be cut to the low 60 pros and 10 amateurs for a 36-hole finale Sunday.

Tourney leader remains Tommy Bolt of Paradise, Fla. who shot 66 Thursay. Bolt was two under par on the eighth hole when the skies opened up Friday.

WHITE SOX WIN

Wynn Checks Old Teammates, 5-0

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Veteran right-hander Early Wynn held his old Cleveland mates to two hits and was backed by Ted Beard's first American League homer in a 5-0 Chicago White Sox triumph over the Indians Friday.

Cleveland's star freshman, Jim "Mudcat" Grant, absorbed his first loss after three victories.

The 38-year-old Wynn, making his first start against Cleveland since his final Washington year in 1948, retired 16 consecutive batters between a second-inning single by Russ Nixon and a seventh-inning double by Rocky Colavito.

Wynn faced only 31 batters. He walked three and struck out five. It was Wynn's second triumph as a White Soxer against as many defeats.

It marked only the 5th victory in 16 starts for last-place Chicago.

Beard, who hit the last of his five National League homers for Pittsburgh in 1951, smashed his first American loop homer with Wynn aboard in the fourth for a 4-0 Chicago lead. Beard's clout came off Grant, who left the game one batter later with a yield of 7 hits in 3 1-3 innings.

Jim Rivera's double and Bubba Phillips' single scored Chicago's first run in the second. A bases-loaded single by Luis Aparicio in the third gave the Sox a 2-0 lead.

Grant's successor, Cal McLish, gave Chicago its fifth run in the fifth. Phillips singled, stole second and scored on Wynn's scratch single.

Dick Tomanek replaced McLish to start the sixth and held the Sox scoreless the rest of the way.

Only one Indian advanced as far as third. Bobby Avila walked with one out in the first, stole second and took third on an infield out.

But Mickey Vernon popped out to end the inning.

REP. HAYS CONVINCED

Reds Have Freedom Of Worship, Not Religion

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent

A visit to Moscow convinced Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) that "the Russians have freedom of worship—but they don't have freedom of religion."

Hays is president of the Southern Baptist Convention. He and the Rev. Claren W. Cranford, president of the American Baptist Convention, flew to Moscow last month for a good will visit with Russian Baptists.

They reported their impressions in separate interviews in Washington this week. Hays will give a formal report to the Southern Baptist Convention, which meets in Houston May 20-23.

They found, as have other visitors to the Soviet Union, that worship service in Russian churches are heavily attended. At an early Sunday service at Moscow's First Baptist Church, for example, every one of the 1,400 seats was filled long before the opening hymn, and more than 600 worshippers stood throughout the two-hour service.

But as Baptists who attach great importance to evangelism, Hays and Cranford were acutely conscious of the restrictions which the Soviet Communist government has placed on church activities.

"The reason I say that the Russians do not have freedom of religion," Hays explained, "is that they are not free to propagate the faith. The churches cannot operate Sunday schools or conduct any kind of educational programs. They are not permitted to acquire property to open new churches."

Only the government can carry on "educational functions" in Russia. And in state-operated schools, Russian children are taught that religion is an "outworn superstition." They are told that the Soviet government tolerates religious worship because it makes the old folks feel good, But that young people are expected to take a "scientific" — i.e., atheistic— view of the universe.

Soviet Communist leaders believe that this strategy will be more effective in the long run than open persecution of the churches, and that it will virtually eliminate religion from Russia within one or two more generations.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Punishment Bothers Mom, More Than Child

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Why is it that a parent feels no sense of satisfaction in a punishment unless the child "suffers" because of it? The unholy yells a child lets out seem to make a parent believe that the child has learned something from his punishment while she is dissatisfied if he won't cry.

Mrs. G.M. thinks she is a failure as a disciplinarian because her 4-year-old son is not obviously suffering. "I am stumped to know how to punish him when he is naughty," she writes, "as he is occasionally.

"I have given spankings and they bother him for five minutes, then he is right back to normal. I have tried sitting him on a chair for one and one-half hours, playing with his hands and humming until he fell asleep.

Fell Asleep

"Another time I made him stand in a corner and think about the fib he had told me and he stood there with his nose in the corner until he fell asleep standing up. There were two other children here at the time and I thought he would want to play with them.

"He is an only child, though we have an older foster child living with us. We love him dearly. Do you think he just accepts punishments without argument? Friends have told me this."

Perhaps he does. But why would you feel better about it if he screamed and ranted because he was being punished? What you are doing is to try to teach him a lesson. If he gets the lesson without being made miserable, isn't this enough?

Is Good Child

When you take a child away from a situation in which he is misbehaving, that is punishment. If you make it plain to him that a fib is a very generally disapproved statement and most everyone can see right through one—he isn't going to be comfortable telling one again.

The fact that he adjusts himself to punishment—maybe thinking that it is justified, is because he is the ordinary good child. The one who screams and cries and then turns around and does the same thing again, hasn't been made better by punishment; he hasn't learned a thing. If your boy learns what you are trying to teach him, even if he doesn't suffer during the learning, then you can call effective whatever it is you do.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Take Inventory Of Your Marriage, Try Changes

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: My husband and I have been married six years. We have two small daughters whom he worships.

He's always been a good provider and I thought we were happy. I received an unsigned letter in the mail yesterday telling me that my husband has been seeing another woman night and day. I don't doubt it because he never spends any time at home. Six nights a week he's out from midnight until 3:00 A.M.

When I showed him the letter he admitted everything. He said he's had "a few friends" from the first year of our marriage. He claims that I'm not affectionate enough for him, that I keep a poor house and that I sleep all the time. He says the only thing holding our marriage together is the children.

My problem is this: Shall I go see this woman and order her to leave my man alone? My daughters need a father.—U.D.D.

This is a father? When do they see him if he's with his girl friend "night and day"?

And how in the world could you have thought you were happy when your husband rolls in at odd hours of the morning six nights a week? You must be sleeping even when you're awake.

Don't go to see the other woman. It won't solve anything. Even if you should succeed in scaring her off, there are plenty more where she came from. Since he's fairly articulate about his complaints, take inventory. Perhaps you haven't been living up to your obligation. It's a chinch HE hasn't.

Go together to a marriage counselor and air your beefs. If you both put forth the effort you can make this marriage work.

Dear Ann: Recently I attended a funeral which was very embarrassing. The wife of the deceased man was in the front row and two of his former wives were seated right behind her. Of course this caused a lot of talk.

I've never seen this question of etiquette discussed anywhere and I think it's about time somebody broke the ice.

I'm especially interested because I was married to a man who was much older. We were divorced 12 years ago. If my ex-husband should die before I do, would it be proper for me to attend his funeral? Would it be right to bring my present husband with me? Please answer these questions. It's about time somebody did.—MRS. FLOYD S.

This is not a matter of etiquette. Common sense and how you feel should guide you.

If a divorced mate feels no bitterness and wishes to attend the funeral of a former marriage partner, it's perfectly all right to do so. Married people are expected to go places together, and funerals are no exceptions, so the presence of your husband would not be unseemly.

It goes without saying that an ex-mate stays well in the background and doesn't try to share the special place of respect which is usually reserved for the widow or widower.

Some Household Hints To Aid Mother's Day

When wrapping a gift in a circular box, to keep the ribbon from slipping, first tape it to the bottom of the box.

Sprinkle some sachet into the tissue paper surrounding a gift of lingerie, hosiery or gloves.

To keep the ham served at dinner from drying out, take some of the fat part and fry it. Let it harden, then spread on cut end of the ham about half an inch thick before returning to the refrigerator. When ready to slice ham again, scrape the fat off.

When serving fried chicken — place the pieces on a long sheet of aluminum foil, roll and crimp the edges, to make a platter. It cuts down on dish washing.

In a household where lavish spending is not possible, have each member of the family buy some little article for mother and make one package out of it. The gift box should contain the things mother needs, but rarely has enough of — such as a pair of rubber gloves; a pair of nylon hose; a new book for recipes; her favorite soap and talcum powder, or a gift certificate to the beauty parlor.

If the stem of the Mother's Day plant should break, wrap the skin of an onion around the break — fastening with cellophane tape. Many a house plant has been saved in this way.

When the holiday plant comes in a plain flower pot, dress it up by pinning around it — a strip of wall paper or left over drapery material, to match the room in which the plant will stay.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Punishment Bothers Mom, More Than Child

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Why is it that a parent feels no sense of satisfaction in a punishment unless the child "suffers" because of it? The unholy yells a child lets out seem to make a parent believe that the child has learned something from his punishment while she is dissatisfied if he won't cry.

Mrs. G.M. thinks she is a failure as a disciplinarian because her 4-year-old son is not obviously suffering. "I am stumped to know how to punish him when he is naughty," she writes, "as he is occasionally.

"I have given spankings and they bother him for five minutes, then he is right back to normal. I have tried sitting him on a chair for one and one-half hours, playing with his hands and humming until he fell asleep.

Fell Asleep

"Another time I made him stand in a corner and think about the fib he had told me and he stood there with his nose in the corner until he fell asleep standing up. There were two other children here at the time and I thought he would want to play with them.

"He is an only child, though we have an older foster child living with us. We love him dearly. Do you think he just accepts punishments without argument? Friends have told me this."

Perhaps he does. But why would you feel better about it if he screamed and ranted because he was being punished? What you are doing is to try to teach him a lesson. If he gets the lesson without being made miserable, isn't this enough?

Is Good Child

When you take a child away from a situation in which he is misbehaving, that is punishment. If you make it plain to him that a fib is a very generally disapproved statement and most everyone can see right through one—he isn't going to be comfortable telling one again.

The fact that he adjusts himself to punishment—maybe thinking that it is justified, is because he is the ordinary good child. BY UTILITIES OFFICIALS

Revenue Report Is Denied Here

Utilities Commission officials yesterday refuted a report that the commission is putting $75,000 monthly in the City Hall general fund.

French L. Smith, Utilities Commission chairman, said a surplus of $55,000 per month is placed in the general fund by the commission, which also pays out $17,000 monthly on past due accounts.

"That comes to $72,000 a month, which answers the rumor that we're giving the City Council $75,000 monthly," Smith stated.

Under the act which created the Utilities Commission in 1956, surplus funds from the Utilities Commission automatically go into the city's general fund.

The Utilities Commission recently increased its monthly flow to the general fund by $15,000, from $40,000 to $55,000.

Smith's explanation of the commission's financial set-up were prompted by rumors in anti-City Hall circles.

He said the commission owes $239,000 in past due accounts, after chopping the big deficit from $668,000 in 19 months.

Sees Improvement

"If all goes well, that is, if we have no break-downs or expensive repairs, this commission, under its down-the-middle policy, will be out of debt in 15 months," Smith said.

The commission inherited the $668,000 debt when it was created by a special legislative act. The debt was incurred on operations of the city's power and water systems.

Smith explained that the commission owes seven big accounts. He pointed out that monthly payments are being made in a "business-like manner to get the commission out of debt."

During recent months the commission has put into effect a revamping program of the city's power system.

"During that time, we have been paying our way as we go," Smith said. "We have incurred no new debts."

Monroe citizens passed a $4½-million bond issue for the expansion of the power plant. The plant capacity will be increased from 34,500 to 44,500 kilowatts in order to serve the city's rising number of customers.

Extraction of titanium ore and other minerals from the beaches of Australia is a 22½ million dollar a year industry.

BOLIVIAN PRESENTS FOR NIXON —Vice President Richard Nixon was all smiles when he was fitted with knitted cap and poncho in La Paz, Bolivia, during his current tour of South America. Things were different Thursday, however, when he was stoned and shouted down by a mob in Peru's San Marcos University. Presenting the cap and poncho to Nixon is Antonio N. Ike Praises Nixon For His Courage

QUITO, Ecuador (UP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrived here Friday from Lima, Peru, with a personal message from President Eisenhower praising his "courage, patience and calmness" before Communist-led mobs in the Peruvian capital Thursday.

Nixon's special U.S. Air Force plane landed here after a four-hour flight from Lima where he was stoned, spat upon and had fruit and garbage hurled at him in two violent anti-American demonstrations.

The vice president and his wife, Pat, will visit here for two days before continuing on their eight-nation goodwill tour of South America. Ecuadorean Vice President Vicente Illingworth, Quito Carlos Andrade Marin and members of the diplomatic corps welcomed Nixon as he stepped from the plane.

Cadets from Ecuador's military academy formed an honor guard. A cadet band played the national anthems of both countries. There were no demonstration.

During the flight here Nixon received a radiotelephone call from Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in Washington. He read a message from Eisenhower addressed to "Dear Dick."

The President said Nixon's handling of the Lima mobs "have brought you new respect and admiration in our country."

"I am certain the vast majority of citizens in both Peru and in the United States, deplore the incident caused by a few," Eisenhower added.

Nixon had praise from embarrassed Peruvian officials who said he demonstrated personal courage in his behavior before the two Red-led groups of demonstrators.

Even the Federation of University Students in Lima disclaimed all responsibility for the stone throwing attack which it termed a "barbaric act."

What To Do With Extra $25 Solved

SAUGUS, Mass. (AP)—What does an American workman do when he suddenly gets $25 extra to spend? Henry Gibbs, president of the Gibbs Oil Co., found out Friday.

Gibbs this week gave each of his 80 employes $25 — not as a bonus, but to discourage thought or talk about the recession. He obtained from each worker a signed statement promising that the money would not be banked, but would be spent quickly—for Mothers Day, for wife, mother or sweetheart.

A survey showed that two of the group are buying flowers. Some 17 per cent are taking their families to a restaurant on Sunday. The overwhelming majority, more than 80 per cent, are giving some form of gift clothing.

Gibbs surmised that these might be items most subject to economy. And he said, it is interesting to think what might develop if this were done by thousands of employers across the country.

City Briefs

To Attend

W. A. Breedlove, executive secretary of the Police Jury Association of Louisiana, leaves Monroe for Baton Rouge Monday to attend sessions of the state legislature. Representing the police jury, he plans to attend the sessions from Monday through Thursday of each week until the legislature adjourns in mid-July.

Lawsuit

A lawsuit totalling nearly $20,000 was filed yesterday with the Ouachita Parish Clerk of Court.

Mrs. Ruth B. Madison of Monroe is suing Southern Farm Bureau Casualty Insurance Co. for extensive back and spinal injuries she states she received in a two-car wreck on May 18, 1957. She is asking $17,000 and her husband, H. Flood Madison Jr. is asking $2,579.33.

The suit charges that William C. Norsworthy, 17, of Mer Rouge, was driving his father's car and that he hit the Madison car at the corner of North Fourth and Louisville Avenue.

SEC Tells Of Stock Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) says a Canadian affiliate of Jefferson Lake Sulphur Company of New Orleans has filed for registration of 600,000 shares of common stock and warrants to purchase 60,000 common shares.

The firm, Jefferson Lake Petro Chemicals of Canada Ltd., will use the proceeds, the commission said yesterday, to provide initial liquid capital.

In exchange for its Canadian holdings, Jefferson Lake Sulphur is to receive about 69 per cent of the 2,025,018 shares initially issued by the Canadian firm.

Jefferson Lake Petro Chemicals was organized last December to acquire the Canadian holdings of Jefferson Lake Sulphur with sulphur production its main business.

Need Is Seen For Training In Agriculture

By OTIS B. HASSELL
Staff Correspondent

COLFAX—J. Norman Efferson, Dean of the L.S.U. College of Agriculture, said here yesterday the modern-day farmer needs a college education to cope with the profession's scientific development.

Speaking at a 12-parish farm clinic sponsored by the Louisiana Bankers Association, Dean Efferson directed his remarks to a large gathering of 4-H Club and FFA members.

About 130 bankers and youths attended from 12 parishes, including Franklin, Caldwell, Catahoula and Concordia.

Dean Efferson said agriculture in Louisiana is expanding rather than declining and at the same time the methods of farming are changing.

He told the group, meeting on the 900-acre farm of T. H. Vallee, that today's gross income from agriculture in Louisiana is $400 million annually—the greatest in 20 years.

Increase Cited

"In the last 10 years, agriculture and forest products have increased four times," Dean Efferson stated.

He explained that agriculture, on the farm level alone, supports one out of every four persons and in general supports every one out of two.

But he warned that farming has changed, the farms having become larger and requiring more capital to operate.

Clayton Rutledge, vice-president of the Louisiana Bankers Association, of St. Francisville presented the 4-H and FFA youths with achievement certificates.

The clinic was sponsored jointly by the Bankers Association, the L.S.U. College of Agriculture and the Federal Reserve Bank at Dallas.

It began in the morning and continued through mid-afternoon.

Troop Order 'Foolish' Says Alabama Solon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala) predicted Friday that probably never again will a President issue "so foolish an order" as to have federal troops patrol a school.

President Eisenhower sent troops to Little Rock, Ark. last fall to see that a federal court order concerning integration at Central High School was carried out. The President announced yesterday that troops would be removed May 29.

"The folly of Little Rock has exhibited to the Republicans that there is no political fodder to be gathered through the use of force," Sparkman said in a statement.

He asserted that public reaction to the use of troops in Little Rock was "so overwhelmingly against it that the Republicans have lost the confidence of milions of people who had earlier supported them."

BY UTILITIES OFFICIALS

Revenue Report Is Denied Here

Utilities Commission officials yesterday refuted a report that the commission is putting $75,000 monthly in the City Hall general fund.

French L. Smith, Utilities Commission chairman, said a surplus of $55,000 per month is placed in the general fund by the commission, which also pays out $17,000 monthly on past due accounts.

"That comes to $72,000 a month, which answers the rumor that we're giving the City Council $75,000 monthly," Smith stated.

Under the act which created the Utilities Commission in 1956, surplus funds from the Utilities Commission automatically go into the city's general fund.

The Utilities Commission recently increased its monthly flow to the general fund by $15,000, from $40,000 to $55,000.

Smith's explanation of the commission's financial set-up were prompted by rumors in anti-City Hall circles.

He said the commission owes $239,000 in past due accounts, after chopping the big deficit from $668,000 in 19 months.

Sees Improvement

"If all goes well, that is, if we have no break-downs or expensive repairs, this commission, under its down-the-middle policy, will be out of debt in 15 months," Smith said.

The commission inherited the $668,000 debt when it was created by a special legislative act. The debt was incurred on operations of the city's power and water systems.

Smith explained that the commission owes seven big accounts. He pointed out that monthly payments are being made in a "business - like manner to get the commission out of debt."

During recent months the commission has put into effect a revamping program of the city's power system.

"During that time, we have been paying our way as we go," Smith said. "We have incurred no new debts."

Monroe citizens passed a $4½-million bond issue for the expansion of the power plant. The plant capacity will be increased from 34,500 to 44,500 kilowatts in order to serve the city's rising number of customers.

BOLIVIAN PRESENTS FOR NIXON —Vice President Richard Nixon was all smiles when he was fitted with knitted cap and poncho in La Paz, Bolivia, during his current tour of South America. Things were different Thursday, however, when he was stoned and shouted down by a mob in Peru's San Marcos University. Presenting the cap and poncho to Nixon is Antonio N. Lavarez, leader and delegate of Bolivian Indians. (AP Wirephoto)

Ike Praises Nixon For His Courage

QUITO, Ecuador (UP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon arrived here Friday from Lima, Peru, with a personal message from President Eisenhower praising his "courage, patience and calmness" before Communist - led mobs in the Peruvian capital Thursday.

Nixon's special U.S. Air Force plane landed here after a four-hour flight from Lima where he was stoned, spat upon and had fruit and garbage hurled at him in two violent anti - American demonstrations.

The vice president and his wife, Pat, will visit here for two days before continuing on their eight-nation goodwill tour of South America. Ecuadorean Vice President Vicente Illingworth, Quito Carlos Andrade Marin and members of the diplomatic corps welcomed Nixon as he stepped from the plane.

Cadets from Ecuador's military academy formed an honor guard. A cadet band played the national anthems of both countries. There were no demonstration.

During the flight here Nixon received a radiotelephone call from Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in Washington. He read a message from Eisenhower addressed to "Dear Dick."

The President said Nixon's handling of the Lima mobs "have brought you new respect and admiration in our country."

"I am certain the vast majority of citizens in both Peru and in the United States, deplore the incident caused by a few," Eisenhower added.

Nixon had praise from embarrassed Peruvian officials who said he demonstrated personal courage in his behavior before the two Red-led groups of demonstrators.

Even the Federation of University Students in Lima disclaimed all responsibility for the stone throwing attack which it termed a "barbaric act."

What To Do With Extra $25 Solved

SAUGUS, Mass. (AP)—What does an American workman do when he suddenly gets $25 extra to spend? Henry Gibbs, president of the Gibbs Oil Co., found out Friday.

Gibbs this week gave each of his 80 employes $25 — not as a bonus, but to discourage thought or talk about the recession. He obtained from each worker a signed statement promising that the money would not be banked, but would be spent quickly—for Mothers Day, for wife, mother or sweetheart.

A survey showed that two of the group are buying flowers. Some 17 per cent are taking their families to a restaurant on Sunday. The overwhelming majority, more than 80 per cent, are giving some form of gift clothing.

Gibbs surmised that these might be items most subject to economy. And he said, it is interesting to think what might develop if this were done by thousands of employers across the country.

City Briefs

To Attend

W. A. Breedlove, executive secretary of the Police Jury Association of Louisiana, leaves Monroe for Baton Rouge Monday to attend sessions of the state legislature. Representing the police jury, he plans to attend the sessions from Monday through Thursday of each week until the legislature adjourns in mid-July.

Lawsuit

A lawsuit totalling nearly $20,000 was filed yesterday with the Ouachita Parish Clerk of Court.

Mrs. Ruth B. Madison of Monroe is suing Southern Farm Bureau Casualty Insurance Co. for extensive back and spinal injuries she states she received in a two-car wreck on May 18, 1957. She is asking $17,000 and her husband, H. Flood Madison Jr. is asking $2,579.33.

The suit charges that William C. Norsworthy, 17, of Mer Rouge, was driving his father's car and that he hit the Madison car at the corner of North Fourth and Louisville Avenue.

SEC Tells Of Stock Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) says a Canadian affiliate of Jefferson Lake Sulphur Company of New Orleans has filed for registration of 600,000 shares of common stock and warrants to purchase 60,000 common shares.

The firm, Jefferson Lake Petro Chemicals of Canada Ltd., will use the proceeds, the commission said yesterday, to provide initial liquid capital.

In exchange for its Canadian holdings, Jefferson Lake Sulphur is to receive about 69 per cent of the 2,025,018 shares initially issued by the Canadian firm.

Jefferson Lake Petro Chemicals was organized last December to acquire the Canadian holdings of Jefferson Lake Sulphur with sulphur production its main business.

Need Is Seen For Training In Agriculture

By OTIS B. HASSELL
Staff Correspondent

COLFAX—J. Norman Efferson, Dean of the L.S.U. College of Agriculture, said here yesterday the modern-day farmer needs a college education to cope with the profession's scientific development.

Speaking at a 12-parish farm clinic sponsored by the Louisiana Bankers Association, Dean Efferson directed his remarks to a large gathering of 4-H Club and FFA members.

About 130 bankers and youths attended from 12 parishes, including Franklin, Caldwell, Catahoula and Concordia.

Dean Efferson said agriculture in Louisiana is expanding rather than declining and at the same time the methods of farming are changing.

He told the group, meeting on the 900-acre farm of T. H. Vallee, that today's gross income from agriculture in Louisiana is $400 million annually—the greatest in 20 years.

Increase Cited

"In the last 10 years, agriculture and forest products have increased four times," Dean Efferson stated.

He explained that agriculture, on the farm level alone, supports one out of every four persons and in general supports every one out of two.

Integration Hearing Date Set June 3

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The date for a federal court hearing on the Little Rock School Board's petition to suspend integration at Central High School was reset Friday. The new date is June 3, only a day later than the previous date.

U. S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope rescheduled the hearing at the request of attorneys for Negro students who are plaintiffs in the original Little Rock integration suit.

There was no objection from attorneys for the School Board.

On April 28 Lemley set the hearing date and called on the school board to be more specific in its request for suspension.

The board had filed a petition Feb. 20, asking for a stay of a federal court integration order. At that time the board contended that unrest existed among teachers and students at Central High because eight Negroes were attending the school. The board cited frequent racial clashes between white and Negro students.

Last Wednesday attorneys for the School Board filed a substituted petition suggesting that the integration of Little Rock schools be postponed until January, 1961. The substituted petition also clarified the board's stand on the issue in accordance with Lemley's call for more specific contentions.

Flood Assn. Again Asks For Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for the Mississippi Valley Flood Control Assn. repeated to a Senate appropriations subcommittee Friday their request that Congress vote $74,780,000 this year for flood control work on the lower Mississippi River and tributaries.

This is $7,780,000 more than President Eisenhower budgeted.

The big 50-member delegation represented Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana.

C. S. Tindall, Greenville, Miss., chief spokesman for the group, told the committee "we are in trouble in our valley today—we have flood conditions throughout the area."

In Yazoo River valley, he said, 1,150,000 acres are under water while the Sunflower River in Mississippi is at record stage. Similar conditions prevail in streams on the west side of the Mississippi.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Light Court Action Here Is Reported

Willie Madison, Negro charged with the double shot-gun slaying of two Negro women, appeared in Fourth District Court yesterday, to accept appointment of attorneys

Judge David I. Garrett appointed two Monroe attorneys to look after Madison's interests. He is being held in connection with the killing on Monday, April 28, of Amy Mitchell, 52, of 814 McHenry and Susie Roberson, her 33-year-old daughter.

They were slain in the Roberson woman's home, 212 Eighth St.

No court action can be taken against Madison unless the Ouachita parish grand jury indicts him. The next regularly scheduled jury session is several months off.

In other action, an extradition hearing was held on Willie Smith, Negro, wanted on murder charges in Alabama. He was ordered returned to that state.

Other Cases

Tony Halachoulis, who previously had pled guilty to issuing two worthless checks, was sentenced yesterday. He received three years in the penitentiary, suspended, on each count and was placed on probation.

George H. Bell was arraigned on charges of incest and denied the offense. An attorney for him was appointed by the court.

Pleading guilty to aggravated battery was Leon Dupree, 60, Negro. He was remanded for pre-sentence investigation.

Charges against Troy Brown, charged with carnal knowledge of a juvenile, were dropped.

The case against Miss Dorothy Marie Childress was continued. She is on bond, and is charged with driving while intoxicated and no driver's license.

Myrties H.Wilson was fined $300 or 90 days for driving while intoxicated. Bond forfeiture previously entered was set aside.

Drying Process Precedes Repair

West Monroe Superintendent of streets, W. R. Townsend, said yesterday that his department was waiting for the streets to dry out before beginning blacktopping operations to repair damage to rain ravaged streets.

Townsend added that some patching operations were going on during the waiting period.

NEW DIRECTOR NAMED

GENEVA, Switzerland (UP)—Marcus Daly, an American investment executive, has been installed as new director-general of the 27-nation Inter-Governmental Committee for European Migration. He replaces American Harold H. Tittmann who announced last autumn that he wished to retire.

City Courts

WEST MONROE

West Monroe City Court, Judge Jasper Jones presiding, collected a total of $45.50 in fines forfeitures yesterday.

One man was fined $25 for reckless driving and causing a wreck, and another forfeited a $20.50 bond on a speeding charge.

MONROE

The following case dispositions were recorded in Monroe City Court yesterday with Judge W. M. Harper presiding.

Clark Good 30 of No. 12 Breard's Alley was fined $100 or 100 days on a charge of unauthorized use of a movable.

Joe Hobgood, 30, of Warren, Ark., drew a sentence of $500 or nine months on charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Thirteen persons paid fines totaling $226 on charges ranging fromt raffic violations to drunkenness. Fines were from $5 to $25. Five persons drew sentences of $25 or 25 days on traffic violations, or charges of drunkenness, theft, or concealed weapons.

The novel, "Gone With the Wind," has been translated into thirty languages, more than "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Dock Board Prexy Will Ask Change

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Ralph P. Nolan, president of the New Orleans dock board, said Friday the board will ask the Legislature to lift borrowing limitations to make way for 95 million dollars in port improvements.

Nolan said the 35 millions set by the Legislature 37 years ago as the ceiling for the board's bonded indebtedness is inadequate to meet demands for improvements.

The legislation would be a constitutional proposal, requiring ratification by the state's voters.

The board, Nolan said, under current limitations, cannot provide urgently needed rehabilitation and existing terminal faciliation and additional improvements to meet trade growth needs.

The board essentially is self-supporting, Nolan said, and its revenues from river trade cannot possibly meet the money needs for maintenance and construction.

Proposed construction would include some 30 additional ship berths.

Southern Bell Pays Its Taxes

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Dist. Manager Harry A. Cassady of Southern Bell Friday presented a $390,005 tax payment check to state collector James S. Reily.

The payment represented the phone company's public utility taxes for the first quarter of 1958.

The check was part of an estimated tax bill of eight million dollars Southern Bell will pay to the state and its municipalities and parishes this year.

$10-Million Bond Issue Authorized For Jeff Schools

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The school board in adjoining Jefferson Parish Friday authorized a 10-million-dollar bond issue for new construction.

At the same time, in a rare move, the board reduced the parish school tax. The board voted 9-8 to submit the bond proposals for voter approval.

The bonds are part of a 20-million-dollar school facilities construction program in the rapidly suburban parish. The remaining funds would come from the school board's share of a parish sales tax.

The board reduced the school tax from 16½ to 14½ mills, citing retired bonds and increased property assessments as the reason.

Integration Hearing Date Set June 3

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The date for a federal court hearing on the Little Rock School Board's petition to suspend integration at Central High School was reset Friday. The new date is June 3, only a day later than the previous date.

U. S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope rescheduled the hearing at the request of attorneys for Negro students who are plaintiffs in the original Little Rock integration suit.

There was no objection from attorneys for the School Board.

On April 28 Lemley set the hearing date and called on the school board to be more specific in its request for suspension.

The board had filed a petition Feb. 20, asking for a stay of a federal court integration order. At that time the board contended that unrest existed among teachers and students at Central High because eight Negroes were attending the school. The board cited frequent racial clashes between white and Negro students.

Last Wednesday attorneys for the School Board filed a substituted petition suggesting that the integration of Little Rock schools be postponed until January, 1961. The substituted petition also clarified the board's stand on the issue in accordance with Lemley's call for more specific contentions.

Flood Assn. Again Asks For Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for the Mississippi Valley Flood Control Assn. repeated to a Senate appropriations subcommittee Friday their request that Congress vote $74,780,000 this year for flood control work on the lower Mississippi River and tributaries.

This is $7,780,000 more than President Eisenhower budgeted.

The big 50-member delegation represented Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana.

C. S. Tindall, Greenville, Miss., chief spokesman for the group, told the committee "we are in trouble in our valley today—we have flood conditions throughout the area."

In Yazoo River valley, he said, 1,150,000 acres are under water while the Sunflower River in Mississippi is at record stage. Similar conditions prevail in streams on the west side of the Mississippi.

OPHS Alumni Banquet May 20

George Brien, assistant professor of speech at Northeast Louisiana State College, will be the principal speaker at the Ouachita Parish High School Alumni Banquet to be held at the Virginia Hotel Ballroom at 7 p. m. May 20.

A native of Baton Rouge, Brien has been active in Little Theatre and college dramatic presentations since joining the faculty at Northeast several years ago.

Brien has done advance study, and is working toward his doctor's degree.

Miss Grace Carter, co - sponsor of the annual banquet, announced that husbands and wives of Ouachita Parish High graduates are invited to attend. She added that anyone who attended Ouachita for at least two years is also eligible to attend the affair.

Mrs. Fava Installed As President Of La. Confederacy Group

Mrs. Fava is a grand daughter of Private J. A. Ballard of Union County, Ark. She succeeds Mrs. H. W. Littleton of New Orleans.

Here's Text Of Faubus' Reply To Ike

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Here is the text of Gov. Orval Faubus' statement about the scheduled withdrawal of troops from integrated Little Rock Central High School:

"The withdrawl of federal troops from Central High School, if carried out, will mark the end of a tragic occurrence in the history of Arkansas and the republic of which it is a part.

"For some nine months, we have seen the corridors and grounds of a locally owned public institution, which is supported by local and state funds, patroled by armed soldiers of the federal government.

"The federal government, which contributes nothing toward support or maintenance of this locally owned public school, has exercised control and domination of the school's activities through the power of its armed troops.

"Students, teachers and visitors have been subject to the orders of these armed troops at all times.

"Federal troops should never have been assigned to a mission such as they have performed in Little Rock. It is hoped that never again will any national administration embark upon such an unwise and illegal invasion of the powers of the state and local governments.

"In conclusion, I wish to point out that state and local authorities are charged with enforcement of state and local laws and ordinances. They never have been and are not charged with enforcement of federal laws or orders."

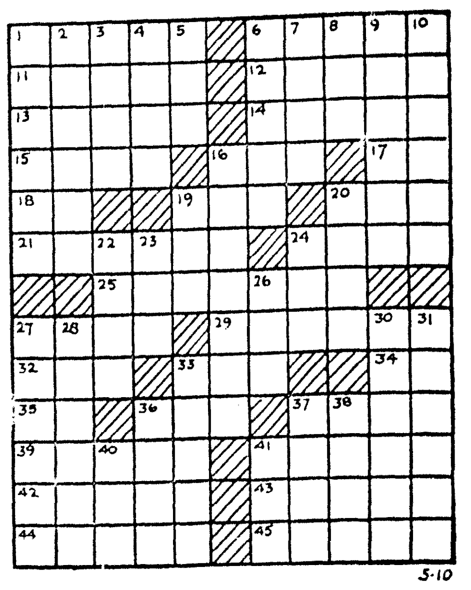
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Steel Merger Defense Near Completion

NEW YORK (UP)—The defense was expected to wind up its case today or Monday in its attempt to prove in Federal Court that a merger of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. should be allowed.

But the government, seeking to block the merger on grounds it would lessen competition and tend toward monopoly in the steel industry, said it will call rebuttal witnesses.

Government Prosecutor Allen A. Dobey told reporters the rebuttal testimony would be "comparatively brief" but would be substantial enough to carry the landmark anti-trust trial into its fifth week.

The government originally rested its case April 22 after bringing 13 witnesses to the stand in six trial days.

Thursday the defense called its 10th witness, Bethlehem chief economic analyst Robert D. Woodward. The case is being heard by Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld.

The defense's general contention is that the merger would stimulate competition by enabling Bethlehem, which has no midwestern plants, to expand Youngstown facilities. Bethlehem has said it will spend 358 million dollars in this endeavor if the merger is approved.

Here's Text Of Faubus' Reply To Ike

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Here is the text of Gov. Orval Faubus' statement about the scheduled withdrawal of troops from integrated Little Rock Central High School:

"The withdrawl of federal troops from Central High School, if carried out, will mark the end of a tragic occurrence in the history of Arkansas and the republic of which it is a part.

"For some nine months, we have seen the corridors and grounds of a locally owned public institution, which is supported by local and state funds, patroled by armed soldiers of the federal government.

"The federal government, which contributes nothing toward support or maintenance of this locally owned public school, has exercised control and domination of the school's activities through the power of its armed troops.

"Students, teachers and visitors have been subject to the orders of these armed troops at all times.

"Federal troops should never have been assigned to a mission such as they have performed in Little Rock. It is hoped that never again will any national administration embark upon such an unwise and illegal invasion of the powers of the state and local governments.

"In conclusion, I wish to point out that state and local authorities are charged with enforcement of state and local laws and ordinances. They never have been and are not charged with enforcement of federal laws or orders."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Steel Merger Defense Near Completion

NEW YORK (UP)—The defense was expected to wind up its case today or Monday in its attempt to prove in Federal Court that a merger of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. should be allowed.

But the government, seeking to block the merger on grounds it would lessen competition and tend toward monopoly in the steel industry, said it will call rebuttal witnesses.

Government Prosecutor Allen A. Dobey told reporters the rebuttal testimony would be "comparatively brief" but would be substantial enough to carry the landmark anti-trust trial into its fifth week.

The government originally rested its case April 22 after bringing 13 witnesses to the stand in six trial days.

Thursday the defense called its 10th witness, Bethlehem chief economic analyst Robert D. Woodward. The case is being heard by Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld.

The defense's general contention is that the merger would stimulate competition by enabling Bethlehem, which has no midwestern plants, to expand Youngstown facilities. Bethlehem has said it will spend 358 million dollars in this endeavor if the merger is approved.

The market opened modestly higher yesterday on a little short covering and new commission house buying. Trade hedge selling was attracted at the higher level with the market easing and closing at lows for the day. Volume of trading was moderate with locals fairly active buyers.

Once again the London market imparted strength to New York with some arbitrage interest noted buying in New York and selling in London. There were no auctions held and only 1 auction center in Australia will be opened next week.

London futures after initially rising 1 pence closed at their lows about unchanged for the day. A continued improvement in actuals business was reported both in Bradford and on continent, however trade interests do not look for a much further advance in futures at this time.

Winter Wheat Forecast Is Set By Gov't

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agricul ture Department Friday forecast this year's winter crop at 1,009,754,000 bushels.

No forecast was given for spring wheat, but officials have said a crop of 225 million bushels appears possible. This would give a combined winter and spring production of 1,234,754,000 bushels compared with 947,000,000 last year and 1,030,000,0 for the ten-year average.

Production of peaches in nine southern states was forecast at 15,418,00 bushels compared with 10,738,000 last year and 10,081,000 for the ten-year average.

The acreage of winter wheat for harvest, the yield per acre and the production respectively, by states included: Mississippi 112,000; 21 and 2,352,000.

COTTON LETTER

The west Texas area is reportedly nearly 100 per cent planted, but north Texas is still experiencing delays. Memphis office advises that the South Delta area is 50 per cent or more planted but a large portion will have to be replanted. North Delta is somewhere between 30 and 50 per cent planted. The latter area had substantial rainfall the last 24 hours with the south Delta area mostly dry.

Heavy thunder showers are forecast for the next 5 days in much of the central, southeast and western parts. Prompt stopping of notices the past few days on May by 2 spot firms finally caused considerable short covering in May and July with near months showing greater gains relative to distant months.

New life of contract highs were again made for nearly all months. There was some liquidation in new May and Oct. by professionals and locals. The market however, closed stronger on fear of weekend weather. Hedging continues very light.

COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures continued to advance today under the influence of unfavorable weather reports from the cotton belt. Final prices were 10 cents to $1.40 a bale higher.

Rain persisted in important sections of the belt, including a notable 4.88 inches in the Memphis area over a 24 hour period. More moisture was forecast in parts of the central and eastern belts over the weekend.

Commission house buying stimulated by less favorable crop prospects carried all deliveries except nearby May to new high ground for the season. Late profit taking pared the advance but nearby deliveries held strong influenced by strength in nearby May.

Short covering became more insistent in spot May with trading in that delivery due to expire Tuesday. The May open interest at the start was 17,800 bales.

There were five May transferable notices issued here and all reported stopped by mid-day.

Private reports said that the cotton crop in the Rio Grande and the Corpus Christi sections of Texas is at least one month late and in need of rain. In most sections of the main belt, the urgent need is clear warm weather to facilitate field preparations and planting.

Stocks Hit New High, Drop Some

NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks ran up to new 1958 highs Friday and then encountered some opposition which left them below their best levels.

There were many outstandingly strong issues, however—most of them in the group outside the stocks used to calculate the averages.

Liquors developed strength on the belief they were behind the market. The group showed gains of more than a point in American Distilling, Schenley and Austin Nichols. National Distillers ran up a fraction.

Railroad issues showed gains running to more than a point in Great Northern. Carpenter rose more than 2 in the steels, Richfield 2 in the oils, L.S. Starrett 3 in the tools, Freeport Sulphur more than 5 in the sulphurs, and Oxford more than 2 in the papers.

American held a good part of a 1-point rise in the motors. Central Violetta, Firestone, McIntyre Porcupine, and U.S. Gypsum were strong in their sections.

WOOL LETTER

The market opened modestly higher yesterday on a little short covering and new commission house buying. Trade hedge selling was attracted at the higher level with the market easing and closing at lows for the day. Volume of trading was moderate with locals fairly active buyers.

Once again the London market imparted strength to New York with some arbitrage interest noted buying in New York and selling in London. There were no auctions held and only 1 auction center in Australia will be opened next week.

London futures after initially rising 1 pence closed at their lows about unchanged for the day. A continued improvement in actuals business was reported both in Bradford and on continent, however trade interests do not look for a much further advance in futures at this time.

Winter Wheat Forecast Is Set By Gov't

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department Friday forecast this year's winter crop at 1,009,754,000 bushels.

No forecast was given for spring wheat, but officials have said a crop of 225 million bushels appears possible. This would give a combined winter and spring production of 1,234,754,000 bushels compared with 947,000,000 last year and 1,030,000,0 for the ten-year average.

Production of peaches in nine southern states was forecast at 15,418,00 bushels compared with 10,738,000 last year and 10,081,000 for the ten-year average.

The acreage of winter wheat for harvest, the yield per acre and the production respectively, by states included: Mississippi 112,000; 21 and 2,352,000.

COTTON LETTER

The west Texas area is reportedly nearly 100 per cent planted, and north Texas is still experiencing delays. Memphis office advises that the South Delta area is 50 per cent or more planted but a large portion will have to be replanted. North Delta is somewhere between 30 and 50 per cent planted. The latter area had substantial rainfall the last 24 hours with the south Delta area mostly dry.

Heavy thunder showers are forecast for the next 5 days in much of the central, southeast and western parts. Prompt stopping of notices the past few days on May by 2 spot firms finally caused considerable short covering in May and July with moderate buying greater gains relative to distant months.

New life of contract highs were again made for nearly all months. There was some liquidation in new May and Oct. by professionals and locals. The market however, closed stronger on fear of weekend weather. Hedging continues very light.

COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures continued to advance today under the influence of unfavorable weather reports from the cotton belt. Final prices were 10 cents to $1.40 a bale higher.

Rain persisted in important sections of the belt, including a notable 4.88 inches in the Memphis area over a 24 hour period. More moisture was forecast in parts of the central and eastern belts over the weekend.

Commission house buying stimulated by less favorable crop prospects carried all deliveries except nearby May to new high ground for the season. Late profit taking appeared but nearby deliveries held strong influenced by strength in nearby May.

Short covering became more insistent in spot May with trading in that delivery due to expire Tuesday. The May open interest at the start was 17,800 bales.

There were five May transferable notices issued here and all reported stopped by mid-day.

Private reports said that the cotton crop in the Rio Grande and the Corpus Christi sections of Texas is at least one month late and in need of rain. In most sections of the main belt, the urgent need is clear warm weather to facilitate field preparations and planting.

Stocks Hit New High, Drop Some

NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks ran up to new 1958 highs Friday and then encountered some opposition which left them below their best levels.

There were many outstandingly strong issues, however—most of them in the group outside the stocks used to calculate the averages.

Liquors developed strength on the belief they were behind the market. The group showed gains of more than a point in American Distilling, Schenley and Austin Nichols. National Distillers ran up a fraction.

Railroad issues showed gains running to more than a point in Great Northern. Carpenter rose more than 2 in the steels, Richfield 2 in the oils, L.S. Starrett 3 in the tools, Freeport Sulphur more than 5 in the sulphurs, and Oxford more than 2 in the papers.

American held a good part of a 1-point rise in the motors. Central Violetta, Firestone, McIntyre Porcupine, and U.S. Gypsum were strong in their sections.
